Mayor Davie Is After the Lake Merritt Boat House Revenue

Mayor Davie has sent a letter to the Council regarding the boat houses on Twelfth street dam. The proprietors are paying a rent [illegible] about $30 a month to the Merritt estate and the Mayor thinks the money should go to the city. He therefore recommends that the property be placed in charge of the Board of Public Works with instructions to lease the property to parties keeping the same, and the revenue so derived would assist in keeping the Twelfth street dam in good condition.

The Mayor further advises that the city bring proceedings against the said Merritt estate for all rents previously collected.

RILEY WON.

Result of the Election in the Fruitvale Sanitary District

The election at Fruitvale yesterday for the new Board Trustees and for Sanitary Assessor resulted in a victory for the Riley ticket.

The effort made to down Riley by some of his enemies was completely foiled. He went through his personal popularity and by the record he has made in his former term of office as an efficient and competent officer. An unusually large number of votes were polled.

The vote for trustees was as follows

J H W Riley	99
A C Fay	179
J W Miller	68
W G Thornalley	128

For Sanitary Assessor the vote stood

TWO OFFICERS IN DOUBT.

Bretz Figures He Will Go and Smith Thinks He's All Right.

Assistants to the Fire Chief and the Street Superintendent Are Anxious.

The fate of Bretz still hangs in the balance though there is a good probability that with this afternoon he will sever his connection with the street department. He has drawn up his resignation and has handed it to the City Attorney to do with it as he sees fit hoping of course that it will not be necessary to present it to the Board tonight.

Petsol would have to d[illegible] for the matter until the next meeting at least. Wilson says [illegible] present his resignation today. [illegible] a new appointment. Wilson is more than half inclined to believe that a change should be made. He does not however believe that a permanent appointment should be arranged right away. He is in favor of putting M. Hall now employed a part of the time in his office [illegible] the work when he is needed and receive his pay by the day's work. In this Hall could put in most of his time between the two offices and make fairly good salary.

The appointment of an assistant Fire Chief may also be made today. Smith has been doing the work and also acting as foreman of the chemical engine and receiving only the foreman's pay.

He is at present the favorite candidate and his temporary appointment may be made permanent.

Governor Perkins makes one good point in his letter to the Tribune, after gracefully declining to stand for the nomination of Vice President. He holds that the California delegation should go to St. Louis unpledged to any candidate. That is a reasonable proposition. Delegates can judge far better while on the ground than they can while 2000 miles distant as to who would be the most available candidates.

Recent estimates make the amount of property insured in the United States to be about $21,000,000,000. At present the foreign insurance companies are in the lead—that is, they do a larger amount of business in proportion to their numbers than American companies. Thus it is shown that twenty-six foreign companies do 16 per cent as much business as 161 American companies. But the foreign companies generally have large capitals and some of them have swallowed up weaker companies.

The remains of James G. Blaine will probably be removed from Washington to Augusta, Maine. The Star remarks that this disposition would perhaps be in accord with the desires of a man who, with all his eminence of position and brilliance of intellect, preserved a simplicity of character which endeared him to all who knew him personally. But it is to be regretted that his last resting place should be elsewhere than in this city, which is the scene of so many of his triumphs, and which so many people visit partly for the sake of seeing its mementoes of the country's great men who have passed away.

The Dawes Bill has been denounced before the House Committee by lawyers hired for that purpose. The Dawes Bill breaks up the authority and diminishes the profits of a handful of "Indians," real and professional, in the Indian Territory, and it is worth money to oppose it. The present effort on the part of the beneficiaries of the existing system in the Indian Territory is to secure delay; to make out that another commission and another investigation is necessary. That commission, if granted, it is needless to say, would in the opinion of the proprietors of the present good thing in the Indian Territory, need to be succeeded by another, and so on indefinitely. The Dawes Bill is the work of one of the best friends the Indian ever had. It is the result of years of examination and study of the entire Indian system.

Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania has issued his proclamation for Arbor Days in that State on April 10th and April 24th. He states that Pennsylvania has lost three-fourths of its forests and that the Commonwealth is unable to supply the timber required for its own inhabitants. Over 2,000,000 acres in the State, unfit for the uses of agriculture, have been stripped of their trees, and this territory is now unsightly and barren. "To change the current of national thought from the tree-destroying to the tree-protecting policy," says Gov. Hastings, "to add to the beauty of our mountains and valleys, to ornament the grounds of our free schools and other educational institutions, to add comfort to the traveler upon our public highways, to preserve the shores and banks of our rivers and smaller streams are objects worthy of the intelligent attention of our citizens." The Governor adds that the present generation of Americans is the first to feel the evils of a timberless region.

The Latest Bank Failure.

The failure of the Commercial and Savings Bank of San Jose was an announcement that took many people by surprise yesterday. B. D. Murphy was accounted the richest man in San Jose. He is much more of a politician than a banker. He was an aspirant for a gubernatorial nomination a few months ago. The bank was carrying large interests remote from home. There was, for instance, the Shasta Lumber Company, which finally brought down the bank. Assets could not be turned into money at once. The failure is not a great calamity. The stockholders are rich; the depositors will probably get their money at no distant day.

The failure is only another illustration that rich men do not always make safe bankers, and politicians seldom if ever. Another notable circumstance is that the commercial department of the bank carried the savings department down with it. This double character has never been the best for a savings bank. If there is any trouble it is usually on the commercial side as was the case in the San Jose failure.

Good Land and Not So Good for Colonies

There have been three or four very unfortunate colony enterprises undertaken in California within the past few years. Two of these were hardly less than frauds. The colonists were the victims of false pretenses. There is room for any number of honest colony enterprises in California. Every deception about the capacity of the soil or other natural resources deserves to be promptly exposed.

Recently a German colony enterprise was started on paper. The land selected was near the little narrow guage road running from Colfax to Grass Valley. The German colonists were to come from Milwaukee. Tempting inducements were outlined on paper. Evidently, some land speculators had got hold of a tract of cheap mountain land and intended to work it off for colony purposes. But these careful Germans sent out an agent to examine and report on the capacity. The agent examined it and reported in substance that the land was not worth much; that it was rough mountain land, that in winter the snow sometimes fell to the depth of ten feet, and the mercury went down to 20 degrees. Moreover, the fruit business was not in such a flourishing condition in that vicinity as to warrant the belief that it alone could be relied upon at that altitude for a comfortable living. In short he knocked the bottom out of the ten-acre proposition.

Whereupon the Call undertakes to show that this German agent is mistaken. We should prefer to take the judgment of any discreet man who has made a thorough examination of a tract of land for colony purposes, to any arm-chair theory. The elevation at the point mentioned is 1500. Land at that elevation in the Santa Cruz mountains may seldom be covered with more than four inches of snow which only lasts a few hours. An old-fashioned winter may be experienced at the point named for this German colony. Seeing that there are thousands of acres of rich valley land along the upper Sacramento and in many other small valleys, where the land is well watered and the climate is nearly perfect, it is a pity that colonists should be misled or that attempts should be made in that direction.

Except in a few instances ten acres is not enough to support any family in California. If it were all planted with the most profitable fruit trees there might be years when the product would be unable to carry the family through. Thus, ten-acre vineyards turned out so well for a time that they give a margin of profit to the producer over all expenses. Ten-acre orange groves have made the same record. It is probable that ten-acre lemon orchards will make quite as good a showing. But these are all exceptional cases. The colonist would need now hardly less than fifty acres of valley land, or 150 acres of foothill land to insure him a good basis of future prosperity. The old stories about what has been done in a few instances, are not good now by way of precedents. This German agent could not have gone much amiss in his estimates; nor does it appear that any of his statements need much revision.

Miller's Indictment.

We really thought that Joaquin Miller liked Oakland as much as it was possible for him to like anything. It was a rude awakening when he let out the information in a public lecture that he had something like a lofty contempt for the town on which he had been accustomed to look from his serene heights. It is hoped that this feeling is not mutual. It must have taken Miller nearly two hours the other evening to voice his discontent. He brought his audience with him. The rural districts heard him gladly. The metropolitan district was glum, silent and had a far-away feeling. In fact it was not there to any extent. It therefore nassed a sound berating. Moreover, this is the season of Lent, and good people are not now given to any violent or extravagant amusements.

The indictment of laziness is a novel one. About every man in Oakland is doing his level best to earn his daily bread. If they all had time to plant olive trees among the rocks, and could sell poetry to keep the trees agoing, there might be a great deal more poetry and less bread and butter. It is hoped that Miller will abide here. What this city needs is an occasional punch in the ribs, as it were. In short, we need to be redeemed from a state of quiescence into one of intense wakefulness and watching. It may be good for the public to have the dreamy poet come down from the rocks once or twice a year to announce that he is awake and that he wants everybody else to wake up for the occasion.

Bursts of Popular Indignation.

The exhibitions of popular indignation in Spain have very little political significance. The hot heads are always the first to come to the front. In Spain students led in insults to the American flag. These were supposed to be bursts of patriotic indignation. When the atmosphere is cleared it is seen that no more permanent effect had been produced than the bursting of toy bubbles. That there should be some displeasure felt by Spain on account of the attitude of this country toward Cuba is natural enough. The struggle has been a long and desperate one.

Spain, a hundred years ago or more, had nominal possession of nearly one-third of this continent and nearly the whole of South America. Cuba is her last hold. One after another her provinces have revolted. People of the same blood, religion, language and traditions have found her yoke intolerable. In no instance has Spain ever recovered a lost province. There must have been expressions of popular indignation when Spain was forced to give up Mexico. As one province after another revolted there were just such occasions for remonstrance as Cuba furnishes now. But remonstrance did not greatly retard the march of these Spanish states towards independence.

Charles Carleton Coffin, whose death was recently announced, was known for many years as a journalist in connection with some one of the Boston newspapers. He made his mark as a newspaper correspondent. He wrote many books that were popular with young people. He was a successful man because he made the most of limited early advantages. Most of his work was for the day and has no promise of long survival.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

The preparation of peppermint is a specialty in American industry. The peppermint is cut when in bloom, like hay, dried, placed in close wooden vats and steamed. The oil cells burst and the oil passes upward with the steam, which is condensed and conducted into a receiver, where the oil rises and is piped off. It takes about 30 pounds of dry peppermint to produce one pound of oil. An acre of land yields from six to ten pounds of oil, often more—even as high as fifty pounds. New York and Michigan produce the most.

It sounds absurd, but the statement is made on good authority, that more babies get lost in the shuffle in a presidential year than in any other. It seems that the small citizen is unable to resist the contagion of the time and toddles off after processions, like his elders, but, unlike them, fails to provide himself with cab fare and a latch key.

"A man killed on a railroad never dies with his boots on," recently remarked a Reading railroad employe. "I have seen, perhaps, over a hundred cases where people have been struck and killed by engines, and in every instance when the body was picked up, the feet were found to be minus shoes. Even men wearing heavy top boots are not exempt from the invariable rule. Any old engineer will tell you the same thing. It is a mystery which nobody seems able to solve and is as inexplicable as that other strange phenomenon of the drowned man who always floats on top of the water face downward, while the woman floats face upward."

The lost article room of the elevated road system in New York receives about 20,000 miscellaneous deposits a year. Nearly 10 per cent are umbrellas, and ranking second are satchels. About half the articles are called for, and the balance, after being held for six months or a year, according to their value, are sold at auction.

Sarasate once found his memory deserting him at a recital; but he discovered the reason of the mishap in time to prevent a failure. A lady was fanning herself in the front row of the stalls. The violinist stopped playing. "Madam," he said "how can I play in two-four time when you are beating six-eight?" The lady shut up her fan, and the recital was concluded successfully.

A Kansas City Woman who heard a parlor lecture on Browning was so much interested that she decided she would acquaint herself with the merits of the poet who has been pronounced unintelligible by so many readers. She obtained a volume of his works, but threw up the sponge after she had read three verses of the first poem. Browning is entirely too enigmatical for a busy community like Kansas City.

An old New London (Ct.) whaling captain recalls the fact that during the palmy days of the whaling business there was not a sidewalk, lamp-post or policeman in New London, and good rum was only three or four cents a glass. From 400 to 600 rollicking sailor men were always hanging around ashore, but there were no fights and fewer arrests. Of all the vessels of New London's once famous whaling fleet, the only survivor is the schooner Charles Colgate, built in 1850. The venerable craft is now owned by Sebastian Lawrence, and she is tied up at the Lawrence dock. Her owner would not sell her, for sentimental reasons, and when the dock property passes into railroad hands he proposes to tow her up stream, haul her out, and leave her there as a relic of the past.

Five hundred land agents are said to have gone from the various Southern States to the Northwest since the first of this year with the purpose of presenting the advantages of the sections they represent to the Northwestern farmers and inducing them to locate in the South. The Southern Industrial Association of Alabama says that reports from its agencies all over the South show that there has been a remarkable inflow of immigrants from the Northwest since Christmas, and there is every indication that the immigration will show a very large increase as the spring progresses. Meanwhile newspapers in Nebraska, Dakota and other Northwestern States allege that the trains are daily bringing disappointed farmers back from the South.

John C. Phenix has a Jersey heifer on his farm at Woodford, Me., which shows a decided superiority in instinct. One day she approached some men who were at work, and by lowing and using every bovine device tried to attract their attention and make them follow her. At last her strange action roused their curiosity, and they went after her to see what was the matter. She led them to the end of a pasture, where they found another cow which had cut a tendon in her leg against a barbed wire fence, and was crippled and bleeding profusely. The men assisted the wounded animal, and the bovine friend displayed her evident satisfaction at the success of her good work.

M. Munkacsy, the Hungarian artist who has lived in Paris for many years, will leave that city in April to take up a permanent residence in Buda-Pesth. It was in Paris that Munkacsy won his first success. He has long harbored the intention of spending his last years in his native land, and of doing what he can for the cause of art in Hungary.

Baron Jordis, the principal breeder of St. Bernard dogs in Austria, publishes a letter from the prior of St. Bernard's Hospice on the subject of the present value of these dogs. "You ask me whether in the present day our hounds render the same service to travelers as are usually ascribed to them," writes the prior. "Certainly they do. They in no way belie their past. In winter they are absolutely indispensable to us, not only because they still find wanderers buried in the snow, but because they are the only guides who can lead us safely along the proper track in the wild mountain snowstorms. The only difference is, that they do not now carry a basket or flask fastened to their necks; these are borne by one of the brothers of the hospice."

Superstitious Woman.

New York Sun.

"It's good luck to pick up a pin only when you see one in getting out of bed," said a bespectacled Vassar graduate gravely the other day, "but one must pickup all the pins one sees in the course of a day, else one will be cheated or lose a bit of money before nightfall. It's good luck when the crackling sparks from a wood fire spring toward you, and when the palm of your hand itches rub it with the rough edge of a piece of money and you will soon receive money to add to that piece. If you dream three times in succession of births you will fall heir to a fortune within the year, and something agreeable will occur in twelve hours if you happen unconsciously to put any garment on in side out. To reverse the garment changes the luck. If you open a book upside down, don't attempt to read anything in it or you will presently overhear something disagreeable to yourself. I know a great many women who believe that blue-eyed people are more lucky than dark-eyed ones, who only tell their secrets to grey-eyed friends, and who believe that a woman with a black mole on her body is bound to come to a tragic end."

The Pacific Restaurant.

The License Committee will not meet Wednesday night to hear the defendant's evidence in the matter of the charges against the Pacific Restaurant. Attorney Geo. W. Baker, who represents the defense, has been called to Carson City, Nevada, and at his request the investigation went over, the committee to convene at the call of the chair.

There is no watered stock in government [illegible] upon which the public must pay dividends. Then the government can command money at lower rates than private corporations. The field of government activity is being greatly enlarged in European countries and particularly in the matter of municipal ownership of lighting and water supply and street railways.

The speaker referred to the facts set forth in Albert Shaw's book, "Municipal Government in Europe," to confirm the economy of public agencies in these matters and said that the service was eminently satisfactory. While much is yet to be accomplished in the reform of our municipal affairs, he said, "Yet when American citizens learn to elect their officials for efficiency and honesty rather than for their political pull we may do all that European countries and municipalities are doing as public agencies for the satisfaction of all citizens and may do more."

The paper was followed by a general discussion and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Moffett.

It was announced that at the meeting [illegible] Adna A. D[illegible] would present a paper on "Labor and Capital," illustrated by charts.

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Dear Editor: Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

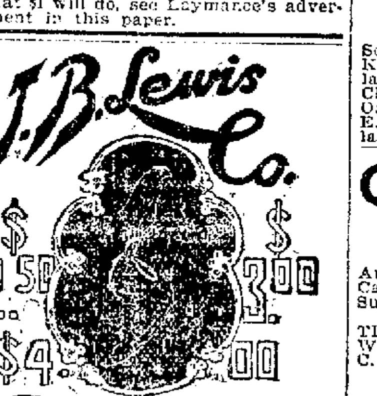

Having nothing to sell or send C. O. D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS, Box 360, Delray, Mich.

LOST IN A ZINC MINE.

A Mistake in a Turn and All Clues Were Gone.

Story of a Perilous Adventure in the Under-Ground Tunnels.

"The sensation of being lost in a cave are almost indescribable," said Hayes Hurd at the Great Northern Hotel, Chicago, to an Inter Ocean reporter. "I had an experience of that kind while I was living in Southwestern Missouri a few years ago that I shall never forget. The state was really a lead and zinc mine, and I had the awful experience of being shut up in a drift about 200 feet below the surface for nearly six hours, and almost frightening my folks, to say nothing of myself, to death.

"It happened in the old Pacific zinc mine, Missouri Pacific depot, at Carthage, Mo., which is located within a stone's throw of the stuff and pump-house, alongside the tracks. At that time the mines around Carthage were producing well, and were being worked by both a day and night shift of men. The ore was raised by buckets and put through a sort of washing process after the stuff had passed through a crusher. This leaves the ore fine like sand.

"Well, at the time I was in the habit of going over to the mine, and sometimes would go down underground to see how things were progressing. My father was one of the owners at the time. I went down one morning about noon, and the men were preparing a blast, which was to be set off just before the lunch hour, so as to give the smoke time to clear away before they resumed work after dinner. I was lowered in a bucket and reached the 200-foot level. Here the drifts run off and are divided in such a way as to honeycomb the ground and reach the zinc veins. There is little or no lead at that depth. The lead is closer to the surface.

"The Pacific mine has two shafts, and they are connected so as to afford ventilation for the miners. I started down the drift which was high enough to permit me to walk with ease, and passed the point where the drift divides into two sections. I was examining the walls for shines, as the little patches of zinc ore are called, when I was startled by a warning cry from the miners. I started to run to the other drift, and had no sooner reached it than a heavy blast went off, shaking the ground and filling the whole mine with smoke and the odor of powder. I was naturally stunned by the explosion and groped around trying to find the shaft and finally reached a place where a ray of light could be seen in the distance. It was the hole that connected the main shaft with the level and airshaft beyond.

"The hole was just large enough to permit a man to crawl through, and this was what I attempted to do. I made a good beginning, but my head protruded through the drift beyond when I realized that I was fast. In roaming about the main level I had gathered a number of specimens of ore and put them in my coat pockets, and this was what had caused the trouble. I was fast, but in a reasonably comfortable position, as, after exhausting my strength in calling for help, I fell asleep from overexertion. I was awakened by a roaring sound, and realized it was a train passing over the drift nearly 200 feet above. A new danger came into my mind. What if they should turn loose another blast? Located in that ventilation hole as I was, the concussion of an explosion would be awful and probably fatal. It made me shudder to think of it. I made a desperate effort to release myself, but could not. I shouted for help with all my might, as I have a pair of good lungs. I succeeded in making myself heard. My absence had been noted and a search had been instituted. It was not long before I was on top of mother earth again."

After the Pugilists.

The matter of the recent prize fight near Warm Springs in this county between two men from San Jose was brought to the attention of Sheriff White by a Tribune reporter this morning and the sheriff was asked whether he intends to take any steps to apprehend the bruisers. Sheriff White said that he had not heard of the fight before it took place, but that he would make an attempt to land the pugilists.

NEWS OF THE NORTH END

Gossip of the Hour at Lorin, Temescal and Berkeley.

MUCH PROGRESS IS EVIDENT.

Street Improvements and a Variety of Social Events.

GOSSIP FROM THE 'VARSITY.

High School Seniors Prepare for Some Festive Meetings.

BERKELEY, March 10.—The residents and property holders along Dwight way street are very anxious to have the thoroughfare improved and are making strenuous efforts to have the Town Trustees take some action in the matter. During the heavy rains of last week the street was almost impassable and teamsters interfered with business. A petition is being circulated asking that the street be macadamized and it will be presented to the Trustees at the next regular meeting. The petitioners desire that the street improvements be made at once.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS.

The seniors of the High school have been holding meetings to plan the final events of their High school life. The play "L'Allegro" will be given on class day, the principal characters being taken by Messrs. Hughes, Dasentine, White, Parks and Misses Howell and West. For class prophecy and history, the following committee has been elected: Misses Bradley and Rankin, Messrs. Tagg, Doherty and Dewing. The two other committees selected are as follows: For class picnic, Miss Stauman, Messrs. Lee, Warren and Parks; for class dance, Misses Henderson and Hight, Messrs. Simonds, Morris and Wiot.

THE HIGGINS LICENSE.

The action of the Trustees in refusing to grant J. J. Higgins a license is causing considerable comment. It is claimed that the grounds upon which the license was refused were not founded on facts but the Trustees had other reasons for not granting the license which they did not care to explain. Higgins has paid his back license fees and the saloon men do not object to the granting of the license as was formerly claimed. A petition among the West Berkeley saloon men has been circulated and signed by nearly every saloon-keeper. This petition will be brought before the Board and the demand for a license will be made again.

WOMEN'S WORK.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Unitarian Church have fully decided to hold a flower show during the latter part of April for the purpose of increasing the funds for the support of the Unitarian Church. The ladies have called upon every inhabitant of Berkeley who is interested in flowers, to aid them to make the matter a success, artistically and financially.

THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY

A Go-Ahead Spirit is Shown in the Thriving Districts.

Improvements, Social Gossip and a Medley of Affairs in General.

The following is a summary of the recent events throughout the county:

Livermore.

The League of Progress has adopted resolutions sympathising with the residents in the country outside the town who are endeavoring to have the Arroyo del Valle road built and has authorized the Chairman to appoint a committee of three to ascertain the status of the condemnation suits in the Superior Court concerning the road and to assist the District Attorney in procuring evidence necessary to establish the actual damages to the land owners, and when the case has gone to judgment to urge upon the Supervisors the completion of the road.

The creamery is rapidly nearing completion and on Saturday next a trial run on a limited quantity of milk will be made. Farmers are getting their cows into condition and giving them the attention in feeding and care that will insure a surprising increase in butter fat.

The Livermore people have inaugurated a campaign of tree-planting. They will begin on Lizzie avenue. On that thoroughfare 500 Australian gum trees will be planted along each side of the thoroughfare. They will be placed twenty feet apart. The ground is now being plowed and well prepared for the young trees which will be from two to three feet high.

Irvington.

The Washington Press will move into more commodious quarters in a few days. One of the large brick stores in the I. O. O. F. building has been engaged for the office. The new home of the Press is 22x75 feet and is most centrally located.

Centreville.

The people of Centreville have organized the Centreville Athletic Club. Frank Smith was elected chairman and Fred Dusterberry secretary. A subscription list with $225 subscribed by the business men has been tendered the club.

Alvarado.

Henriksen Brothers will again run the Alvarado Hotel. The house will be newly furnished and other extensive improvements will be made.

Pleasanton.

The editor of the Pleasanton Times wants the people of that place to establish a fire company which will meet and drill regularly. He says in an editorial that the town owns fire-fighting apparatus, and did once organize a fire company but that after the company held a few meetings lost interest in the concern and now nobody knows who are the members of the company.

The newly elected directors of the Pleasanton Petroleum and Natural Gas Company are Joshua Chadbourne, J. N. Arendt, Wm. Nauler, Joseph Golem and E. L. Benedict.

A non-partisan convention for the purpose of nominating a municipal ticket will be held in Rose Hall at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow evening.

Phil Kolb one of the sureties on the official bond of M. C. Donally, the town marshall, has asked for permission to withdraw from the same.

The case of Johnny Bernal, charged with shooting Dick Foley, which was set last week for Wednesday of last week in the Superior Court, will come up tomorrow.

The dredger is now at work on the Chabot ranch dredging out the Alamo ditch. This will save the land from overflowing in the future.

The almond trees along the county road on the Ruby Hill Vineyard property have all been grafted into prunes.

Haywards.

The Judiciary Committee of the Trustees is considering an ordinance fixing the license of retail dealers of general merchandise at $6 per quarter and of fish peddlers at $3.

Next Friday evening Rev. G. W. Lyons will deliver a lecture on the "New Woman" at the M. E. Church.

The town election will take place on Monday, April 13th.

San Leandro.

The committee of the Board of Trade which has been considering the advisability of establishing a fruit evaporating company, has been informed that if such a company should be organized a certain firm in San Francisco would be willing to act as its agents. The committee has been allowed further time in which to make a full report.

The Board of Trade has appointed Mr. Rautzau a committee of one to look into the matter of the desire for a location of a manufactory entertained by the Union Shoe Company.

Speaking about the damage to orchards in this neighborhood, a well-known resident said: "The apricot and almond trees are now just where they are subject to injury and may have been damaged to some extent, but it has not shown as yet. A week later we can tell better than at present. The other varieties of fruit and the nuts have not yet reached the stage where there is any danger of injury by such slight frosts. It is an open question as to whether any injury has been done to the fruit crop and we are hoping for the best.

San Lorenzo.

The friends of Dr. A. Hulfaker regret to learn that he is about to take his departure to Carson City, Nevada.

The late cold spell has done some injury to apricots and almonds.

Capt. Morse of Alameda will deliver a lecture here on the 20th inst.

The "Spy of Gettysburg" will be presented by the Dramatic Club on the evening of the 27th inst.

Niles.

A correspondent of the Washington Press says "It is too soon, at his writing, to know whether any damage has been done to fruit or not, by the recent extreme cold. Almonds may be hurt, but they fall anyway, and apricots, peaches and cherries are likely to be checked back somewhat, which would be a good thing.

The newly formed Athletic Club is to meet next Thursday evening to draw up by-laws, constitution, etc. A large number who are interested in athletics went to Irvington Saturday evening to attend the newly formed club. It is thought that each town will have its own town club, and that all will work together for special events as one organization, a sort of township affair.

CUT HIS THROAT.

Benjamin Peterson in a Fit of Insanity Tries to Suicide.

SIX DANGEROUS SLASHES.

He Only Missed His Jugular by the Merest Trifle.

THE KNIFE WAS TOO DULL.

The Rash Act Was Committed at the Co-operative Home.

Benjamin Peterson is tired of life and claims that he has become weary of living because of the machinations of both the A. P. A's and Catholics. For that reason he made a painful but unsuccessful attempt at suicide by cutting his throat in several places with a dull pocket knife this morning. The act was committed in the Home of the Co-operative Ladies' Aid Society on Thirteenth street near Washington.

Peterson was found in his bed covered with gore. There were six cuts in his throat, three of which were on one side and three on the other. One of the cuts was dangerously close to the jugular. He was brought to the Receiving Hospital, where his injuries were treated by Dr. Johnson.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon Peterson was brought before Judge Ellsworth and a commission on insanity.

He seemed to be weak and sickly, though he told a straightforward story, except as regards the persons who, he claimed, had been persecuting him.

In response to questions from Judge Ellsworth, he said first that the A. P. A's wanted to kill him, then, that the Catholics wanted to dispose of him, and finally that both of them wanted to do away with him. He then said that he thought he would disappoint them by killing himself.

Peterson is a native of Sweden and 55 years of age. He formerly resided at 1801 Seventh street.

Peterson was sent to Agnews.

TRAGEDY FOR STUDENTS.

Frederick Warde Gives a Fine Address at the High School.

Frederick Warde, the tragedian, gave an interesting lecture this morning at 11 o'clock, in the High School gymnasium on "Tragedy and Drama."

The gymnasium was crowded with pupils, teachers and a few outsiders.

The room was decorated in honor of the distinguished speaker with bunting, flags and potted plants.

Mr. Warde was introduced by the president of the Boys' Debating Society. He spoke of the tragedy and drama and of its various interpretations. He gave an interesting sketch of the lives of the great actors, Booth, Barret and Macready, and their successes in histrionic art. He closed his address by numerous quotations from "The Merchant of Venice" and "Julius Cæsar," and the entertainment was greatly enjoyed by his appreciative audience.

STRANGLERS ABOUT.

The Demi-monde of San Francisco in a State of Terror.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—Two men have been arrested on suspicion of strangling Bertha Paradis, the disreputable women who was found dead in her room early this morning with finger marks of the murderer on her throat.

The police refuse to say who the men are or to give their names, but it is stated the men were seen in the woman's house shortly before the murder was committed.

The autopsy showed the woman had been strangled to death.

Another woman of the same class was strangled in the same manner about a month ago, and the inhabitants of Morton street and St. Mary's Place are in a state of terror as a result.

NOT SPOKEN YET.

The Whereabouts of the Rio de Janeiro Are Unknown.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—Nothing has yet been heard of the missing steamer City of Rio de Janeiro, with her 156 passengers and crew.

The steamer is now sixteen days overdue at Yokohama, and even if she passed that port in a storm, as the steamship people here seem to think, she should have reached Hong Kong by this time.

It is thought the Rio may have run short of coal and is proceeding slowly under sail to Hong Kong.

A Baby Smothered.

Frank Killeans three days old baby was found dead in bed this morning. No reason for its death can be assigned and it is thought that it rolled over on its face and smothered.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MADRID, Mar. 10.—There was a serious anti-American riot at Slamanca yesterday evening.

Students burned the American flags amid the acclamations of the crowd.

The gen d'armes charged the rioters and dispersed them temporarily.

Later the students re-assembled and gathered another mob about them.

The prefect exhorted the students to disperse and they hooted.

Finally the prefect was compelled to call upon the police for protection.

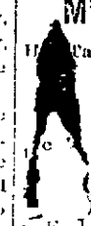

The gen d'armes again charged the riotous students, who met the onslaught with showers of stones.

Order was finally restored.

The University is closed.

M'VEIGH'S TROUBLES.

He Takes the Usual Advice and Tells Them to a Policeman.

[illegible] McVeigh, who was arrested yesterday for battery upon his wife, has a tale to tell of his troubles since he moved his family to West Oakland. [illegible]ch claims that of late his wife [illegible] one an active member of the Fish [illegible] instead of staying at home and attending to her duties as a wife and mother spends her time in revels with the lads of the White Chapel district. A short time ago he says he escorted her in a pretty little home but one evening he returned to find it deserted. Upon investigation he found that Mrs. McVeigh had taken the furniture, children and other household effects to a new home which she had rented nearer the rendezvous of "the boys."

McVeigh's trial was set for the 17th. No matter which way it goes he says he will take steps to secure a divorce and will take steps to secure a divorce and the Humane Society to take charge of his five children.

An Easily Quenched Fire

MANUEL PASTOR ESCAPES.

A Dangerous Man Breaks Out of the Jail at Centerville.

He Had Been Taken There Pending Examination for Assault.

Manuel Pastor escaped today from the Centerville Jail. He has been in the County Jail here and was taken to Centerville last night to be examined this morning on a charge of assault to murder.

This morning when his breakfast was being served he suddenly rushed out of the door and away.

He was seen an hour later wading a stream near Niles.

Pastor is of a murderous disposition. The offense for which he was arrested consisted in cutting another Indian in such a manner that the latter nearly bled to death.

Only a short time ago he was discharged from the County Jail after spending eighteen months there on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

FOUND A NEW FIELD.

Mayor Davie Is After the Lake Merritt Boat House Revenue.

Mayor Davie has sent a letter to the Council regarding the boat houses on Twelfth street dam. The proprietors are paying a rental of about $350 a month to the Merritt estate and the Mayor thinks the money should go to the city. He therefor recommends that the property be placed in charge of the Board of Public Works with instructions to lease the property to parties desiring the same, and the revenue so derived would assist in keeping the Twelfth street dam in good condition.

The Mayor further advises that the city bring proceedings against the said Merritt estate for all rents previously collected.

SMOOTH MR. SCOTT.

He Pulled the Wool Well Over the Eyes of the Faithful.

HIS EXPLOITS DOWN SOUTH.

Los Angeles Chips in a Few Reminiscences of His Career.

HE SEEMS WELL SATISFIED.

San Quentin Will Suit Him as Well as Any Place.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—An interesting chapter of the history of "Rev." C. H. Scott, who was recently arrested in Los Angeles and sent north for embezzling a stereopticon in Oakland, is told by the people who knew him when he was here a year ago.

He descended upon the town in a blaze of glory, figuring as a lecturer and a pious and holy man. He scraped acquaintance with as many church people as possible, and sought recommendations from all the ministers, which they readily gave. Armed with these letters he obtained many engagements to deliver lectures on "Alaska," "California," etc., illustrated with lantern views.

He disappeared one day, leaving his board bill unpaid and also owing a young man whom he had employed as advance agent, two weeks' salary. He also obtained a lot of lantern slides from a Los Angeles photographer and never paid the bills. He succeeded in swindling a number of people by taking subscriptions to the "Land of Sunshine" and pocketing the money.

The proprietors of the paper never employed Scott and knew nothing about him.

When they heard that he had been arrested for an offense committed in Oakland, Scott's victims were greatly surprised at his temerity in returning to Los Angeles.

EASILY SATISFIED.

Scott Says That San Quentin Is Good Enough for Him.

At best Scott is an odd character. The fact that he has fallen from a missionary of the gospel to an alleged felon seems to effect him not at all. He does not like California and says that San Quentin is as good a place as any he has found in the State and as he firmly believes he will go there he has no complaint to make.

In prison he takes life easy. When seen this morning by a Tribune reporter he was lying in his bunk, his hands crossed behind a golfing cap on his head and his feet elevated. During the conversation he never altered his position. The only complaint he has is that he believes it is a religious organization who will prosecute and he thinks that the result will not be lenient.

"It's a kind of mistake," he said in discussing his case, "but I am in for it and I suppose these —— Christians will send me to San Quentin. Well that is as good as any place in the State. I have been here three times and I was never struck very much with any of it.

"If I had known how the whole business was I would have come up here. But I didn't so that's an end of that. I borrowed the outfit from MacMurtry all right but there was no special time set for returning it. I thought a reasonable time would do. He's got me low and I've no defense of any account.

"Did I give any lectures in the South? No. I got strapped and went to work as a conductor on a street car and was holding the job when they arrested me. It took some pull to get that job too. Over 300 applicants but I beat them all. The officers didn't get all of the outfit. Part of it is on storage at Pomona. I would have sent the whole business up to them if I had known they wanted it. I only borrowed the machine and was willing to give it up at any time. I would have been back in two weeks anyhow if they had let me alone."

Scott's principal lecture was on Alaska, although most of his missionary work he claims was done among the Indians of Arizona. Among his effects were some posters with the following flaring heading: "Alaska! Uncle Sam's Ice Box. Our Life Among the Children of the Cold," by H. C. Scott, author, traveller and lecturer."

Detective Holland, who brought Scott up from Los Angeles speaks rather disparagingly of the Pomona storage proposition and says that Scott sold most of the outfit for $20 to a gentleman in that town.

IN THE COURT.

Scott was in the Police Court this morning for arraignment. At his request the preliminary examination was set for the 16th.

Charles Logan, a local photographer, recognizes Scott as an individual who borrowed a photographer's dark room lantern from him about three months ago and sold it to Mrs. Martin at Tenth and Castro streets.

RILEY WON.

Result of the Election in the Fruitvale Sanitary District.

The election at Fruitvale yesterday for the new Board Trustees and for Sanitary Assessor, resulted in a victory for the Riley ticket.

The effort made to down Riley by some of his enemies was completely foiled. He won through his personal popularity and by the record he has made in his former term of office as an efficient and competent officer. An unusually large number of votes were polled.

The vote for trustees was as follows:

J. H. W. Riley	139
A. C. Fay	139
J. W. Miller	108
W. G. Thornalley	128

For Sanitary Assessor the vote stood:

DR. BROWN VERY ILL.

His Nerves Giving Way as a Result of the Trial.

PNEUMONIA ALSO SETS IN.

The Prosecution Springs a Surprise on the Council.

MORE LETTERS INTRODUCED.

The Pastor's Attorney Fights in Vain for Time.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 10.—Rev. C. O. Brown was too ill to appear before the Congregational Council this morning and his attorney announced that he was in a serious condition.

He appears to be suffering from a slight attack of pneumonia. His bronchial tubes are badly affected, and according to Attorney Nagle his mind is also affected as a result of the great mental strain to which he has been subjected during the last few months.

The attorney said he doubted if Mr. Brown would ever entirely recover.

The Council proceeded without Brown and a very lively session was the result.

After Mrs. Paddock, a member of the church, had testified that Dr. Brown had called upon Mrs. Davidson to address the prayer meeting, Miss Overman was called for cross examination.

The prosecution had prepared a surprise in the shape of a number of letters which the Judge Advocate read and asked Miss Overman to identify.

Attorney Nagle, who is representing Dr. Brown's interests, objected strenuously to the reading of the letters, but the moderator ruled they should be read.

Nagle then said if the investigation was to be conducted in such a manner he saw no use for him to remain. He did not leave, however, but continued to fight every point.

There were ten letter in all read by the Judge Advocate and although it was not stated where they were obtained it is supposed they were furnished by Mrs. Davidson.

Miss Overman identified all the letters as having been probably written by her.

One letter dated July 1, 1895, she said had been re-written in the same manner as the letters to Mrs. Tunnell.

The Council adjourned at noon to meet again this afternoon.

After adjournment Nagle and Miss Overman tried to persuade the Moderator to listen to their objections as to the manner of conducting the investigation, but the Moderator's ruling had been made and could not be changed.

A BOOM FOR THE DOCTOR.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Mar. 10.—The First Congregational Church of which Rev. C. O. Brown of San Francisco, was formerly pastor, has adopted a resolution expressing "abiding faith in the entire innocence of our suffering brother—a faith founded of years of personal intercourse and Christian association with him and upon knowledge as far as it is given intimate associates to have, of his stainless and incorruptible manhood."

TWO OFFICERS IN DOUBT.

Bretz Figures He Will Go and Smith Thinks He's All Right.

Assistants to the Fire Chief and the Street Superintendent Are Anxious.

The fate of Bretz still hangs in the balance, though there is a good probability that with this afternoon he will sever his connection with the street department. He has drawn up his resignation and has handed it to the City Attorney to do with it as he sees fit, hoping of course that it will not be necessary to present it to the Board tonight.

Petrol would like to defer the matter until the next meeting at least, yet if Wilson says so he will present the resignation today and agree to a new appointment. Wilson is more than half inclined to believe that a change should be made. He does not, however, believe that a permanent appointment should be arranged right away. He is in favor of putting M. Hall, now employed a part of the time in his office, to do the work when he is needed and to receive his pay by the day's work. In this Hall could put in most of his time between the two offices and make a fairly good salary.

The appointment of an assistant Fire Chief may also be made today. Smith has been doing the work and also acting as foreman of the chemical engine and receiving only the foreman's pay.

He is at present the favorite candidate and his temporary appointment may be made permanent.

DR. "JIM" IN COURT.

The Transvaal Filibusters Are a Drawing Card in London.

A BIG CROWD PRESENT.

Many Members of the Nobility Seated in the Lobby.

BRILLIANT COUNSEL PLEAD.

Sergeant Hay of the African Police Opposes the Raiders.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, March 10.—There was a large crowd about Bow Street Police Court today, the occasion being the formal arraignment of Dr. Leander S. Jameson, Major John Willoughby, Hon. Charles John Coventry, Col. F. White, Col R. Grey, Major R. White, Major J. B. Stracey, Major C. H. Villiers, Capt. K. G. Kincaid-Smith, Capt. C. L. Monroe, Capt. C. P. Foley, Capt. E. S. C. Holden, Capt. C. F. Lindsell, and Lieut. H. M. Grenfell, charged with violating the foreign enlistment act, passed in 1879, "to regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's subjects during the existence of hostilities between foreign states with which Her Majesty is at peace."

The Transvaal filibusterers were loudly cheered whenever recognized and there was hearty applause for "Joe" Chamberlain.

Newspaper representatives were present by the score from many parts of the world.

In the audience were the Duke of Abercorn, chairman of the British Chartered South African Company; Earl and Lady Coventry and other people of equal importance.

Had it not been for the stern demeanor of the chief justice, a popular demonstration would hae occured at the opening of the court.

The array of counsel on both sides is formidable.

Sir John Bridge, chief magistrate, presided.

Sir Richard Webster opened for the crown. He dwelt in forcible language upon the gravity of the charge against the prisoners, contending that the South African Republic was a friendly state within the meaning of the foreign enlistment act and holding that Bechuanaland, from whence most of Jameson's troops came, was undoubtedly a part of the British Dominions.

Sir Richard rehearsed the circumstances of the notorious raid and mentioned a speech which Col. R. Grey made to the Bechuanaland police at Mafeking, in which he said: "I cannot tell you we are going by the Queen's orders, but you are going to fight for the supremacy of the British flag in South Africa."

The address of Sir Richard Webster was listened to with great interest.

As he proceeded, the prisoners began to look nervous and worried. Evidently they had not realized the gravity of their situation.

The first witness called was Sergeant Hay of Bechuanaland, a typical trooper. He testified to the mustering of the troops at Mafeking and to the endeavors of Jameson and Col. Grey to induce him and a few comrades to join a body of men being equipped for a march towards Johannesburg.

Sergeant Hay said Jameson and Grey expressed annoyance at the fact that some troopers hesitated and others refused to join the expedition.

After formal evidence had been submitted, the examination was adjourned for a week.

TALKING TOO MUCH.

Senator Lodge Takes a Turn at the Spanish Minister.

PRIVELEGE IS DISCUSSED.

Incidentally the Rebel Cause Gets Quite a Boom.

WEYLER IS IN BAD ODOR.

Quick Divorces to Be Shut Down on by Congress.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—As soon as the Senate Journal had been read today Lodge (Mass.) rose to a question of personal privilege.

He sent to the desk and had read the Spanish Minister's reference in an interview to Lodge's utterances, calling in question the translation of the statement attributed to General Weyler, in which the latter declared he would "exterminate" the insurgents.

Gray (Del.) said the United States should proceed according to the judgment of a self-respecting nation, unmoved by emeutes at Valencia or Madrid, and without being turned aside to discuss the question of translation between a Senator and the Minister.

Teller (Colo.) said the rule was unvarying against a communication by a foreign Minister except through the State Department. Twice had foreign Ministers been sent home for a statement of less importance than this.

"But, considering the circumstances," added Teller, "had I been in authority I would not have sent him home for this offense, but I would have had the Secretary of State in a most kindly way suggest that a repetition of the offense would lead to his going home."

There was no probability that Spain would dissent in an offensive way to the passage of the pending resolutions, Teller said Spain knew we had a right to recognize the belligerents. Spain would naturally show some feeling, but she would not go to war.

There was a ripple of applause which the Vice-President checked when Teller referred to his sympathy with the Cubans.

"I would be delighted," said he, "to hear that Havana had passed into the hands of the insurgents. I would be delighted to hear the insurgents had run the Spanish soldiers into the sea." But the Senator added he felt no irritation over the student ebullitions in Spain.

In conclusion Teller vigorously asserted the American people would not tolerate any dictation or criticism from the foreign representatives accredited here.

The Cuban discussion ended and Turple took the floor on the Dupont case.

Hoar's resolution introduced yesterday providing the Cuban question go over until April 6th, went over until tomorrow. Hoar said he was in poor health and unable to speak today.

NO DECISION AS YET,

The Yountville Home Matter to Come Up Again Saturday.

A SECRET SESSION HELD.

Lyon Post Issues a Call to Its Members for Tonight.

AN INVESTIGATION CERTAIN.

No Steps Are to Be Taken Unless All Are Present.

The charges made against the management of the Soldiers' Home at Yountville, are by no means disposed of yet. Statement have been printed to the effect that the examining committee has decided to abandon the charges made by Lyon Post on the ground that they are not well founded, but this is not so. The hearing recently conducted was only partial and postponement was taken to Saturday next when the details will be gone into.

Speaking of the rumor that the investigating committee will not proceed further with the charges, Commander Norton of Lyon Post of this city said today: "I do not believe the story. The investigating committee at its meeting, Saturday last, adjourned until next Saturday and at that time had not visited the home. The committee certainly could not report without going to the home and the members would not go to the home unless we were with them. That, in fact, was decided upon at Saturday's meeting, namely, that when the committee went to the home both ourselves and the directors were to be present. There are judicial gentlemen on that committee like Judge Rackles and Judge Walling and they would not make a report without hearing both sides."

In this connection, Commander Norton has issued the following call:

"A special meeting of Lyon Post No. 8, will be held at post headquarters this evening, Tuesday March 10th, at 7:30 sharp for the admission of new members, and other important matters connected with the investigation of the Veterans' Home or any other business that may properly be brought before the post."

MANGLED BY A CAR.

Two Little Girls Meet a Heart-Rending Fate.

THEY WERE ROLLER SKATING.

An Eighth Street Car Came Suddenly Upon Them.

ESCAPE WAS IMPOSSIBLE.

The Only Children of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Booth Killed.

"I'm going out to play, mamma," said pretty little Katie Booth, yesterday evening; "I'll meet papa at the train." She lifted up her childish lips and kissed her mother farewell and then tripped out gaily on to the walk.

"Be a good girl, Katie," was the parting injunction.

"Yes, mamma," was the reply, as the little one buckled on a pair of roller skates.

It was shortly after half past 5 o'clock. Twenty minutes later, Ida, the five-year-old sister of Katie, started out to find her to tell her to prepare for dinner.

"Kiss me good bye, mamma, I'm going out to find Katie," lisped the little curly headed tot.

Ten minutes later the mangled forms of the two children lay beneath the wheels of an Eighth street electric car.

"The cruel accident which robbed the parents of their only children, is one of the most pathetic and deplorable that has occurred in Oakland for many years and today sorrowing friends join in grief with the bereft father and mother over the unhappy affair.

The two little girls lived with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Booth, on the northeast corner of Eighth and Magnolia streets. Katie was an exceptionally bright little girl of 10 years and attended the Cole School. Her teacher, Miss McClure, of the low fifth grade, recognized her as one of the smartest in the class. Today the flag on the school has been lowered to half-mast in her memory.

Ida Emily had not yet seen her sixth year and had until recently been attending a kindergarten on Chestnut street. Both were very pretty children and were always welcomed by their large circle of friends.

After Katie had bid her mother her last good bye and had buckled on her skates, she coasted down the cement walks to Adeline street and thence to Seventh street to await the 6 o'clock train on which her father was to arrive. Then shortly after, baby Ida came along to tell her sister not to wait, but to come home and prepare for the evening meal.

They met Clare Walton, a ten-year-old school mate and playfully, laughing in childish glee, the three started up Adeline street on their homeward journey.

Katie, ever mindful of her little sister's pleasure, unselfishly gave Ida one skate and then the two, hand in hand, went up the street to their death. They went so fast that Clare Walton could not keep up with them.

THE MOMENT OF DEATH.

Up Adeline street the two little ones sped until Eighth street was reached. There they met car No. 10 of the Eighth street line going east. They hesitated a moment but when the car had nearly passed stepped back to the rear end to cross the street, when from the shadow of the east bound car, came car No. 12, going west. The children still had their hands clasped, but Ida was slightly in the lead and before she saw the approaching car, it was almost over her.

Katie, seemed to keep her head, but their momentum was not easily checked. However if it were not for the fact that a stone had become lodged between the rollers of Ida's skate the awful calamity might have been averted. As it was Little Ida tripped up and plunged forward in front of the car, dragging Katie along too. Instead of trying to free herself the brave little child, Katie, grasped at her sister in the vain endeavor to save her life, but too late, for the wheels were upon both of them and the spark of life was soon crushed out.

This is the most authentic account of the affair which has yet been reached, for the only eye witnesses of the awful accident are considerably mixed up in their versions. Some state the car was going very fast while others are positive that the car had slowed down at the time.

A sister of the bereaved mother who is now at the home does not think the car company to blame at all. She said: "I feel confident Katie lost her life trying to save her little sister Ida, and I think Ida stumbled and fell beneath the wheels."

Clare Walton, is positive of seeing a pebble in little Ida's skate after the accident, but she had her back turned when the children were struck. All she heard was a cry and then saw the mangled form of Katie under the front truck while poor Ida was pinioned by the rear wheels.

The car was in charge of Conductor James Brellin and Motorman John McLean. According to the statements of witnesses, McLean brought the car to a standstill almost immediately.

Directly after the accident Dr. Huntington was summoned, but no earthly skill was of any avail. He had the bodies placed on a lawn and covered with a sheet. They were afterward removed to the morgue.

THE FATHER'S SHOCK.

When the father of the girls alighted from the 6 o'clock train, he missed the smiling faces of his daughters who generally met him. At Eighth street he heard of the accident and going to the scene raised the sheet covering the bodies. He failed to recognize the first of the mangled forms. He glanced at the first of the mangled formsfamohamohom other and with the cry: "It's my Ida," fainted. Friends took him in charge and broke the news to the mother. Both parents are prostrated and it is feared Mrs. Booth is seriously ill.

Motorman McLean, who had only been in the employ of the company for a few months, feels the sad affair exceedingly. He has given himself up at the police station but has been released on his own recognizance.

"I did my utmost to prevent the awful accident," he said, "and I swear I am not at fault. It breaks me all up to think of the poor little things and I would give years of my life if it could be undone. I stopped my car as soon as I could possibly do so, after seeing the children, but it was too late. They came running out from behind Car No. 10, just as I reached the crossing and before I knew it, I was upon them. I had slowed down at the crossing as anyone can tell but the cars are heavy, and despite using my utmost strength, I could not stop in time to prevent the awful affair. As it was I stopped within about ten feet."

The inquest on the remains will be held tomorrow evening and the funeral will take place from the family residence 1162 Eighth street, the following day, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be at Cypress Lawn.

Goethe's Visit to Carlsbad.

There is no doubt that the life of the great poet was greatly prolonged by drinking the waters of the Sprudel Spring. In our day we have the Sprudel Spring brought to us in the form of Salt, which is obtained by evaporation from the waters of Carlsbad. The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt is in no sense a mere purgative, but as an alterative and eliminative remedy which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes obstruction by aiding nature. It acts soothingly and without pain. Beware of imitations.

BOTH SIDES KEPT BUSY.

The Fight Regarding Primaries Will Soon Be Settled.

A Four to Two Vote In Favor of Direct Nominations Is Claimed.

The question of whether or not primaries shall be held for the selection of delegates to the National convention from this district will be decided tomorrow evening at a meeting to be held by the Alameda County members of the Congressional Committee. The meeting will be held in Attorney S. P. Hall's office at 7:30.

It looks now as if the primaries will not go as E. K. Taylor of Alameda who on Saturday was disposed to favor them is now inclined to agree to the appointment of the delegates. This would make the committee vote stand as follows:

For primaries—Earl and Morrow.

Against primaries—Morrison, Ingler, Long and Taylor.

The friends of Dr. Pardee are favoring the primaries and are therefor circulating the following petition for presentation to the committee tomorrow night:

"To the Honorable the members of the Third Congressional District Committee—Gentlemen: We the undersigned members of the Republican party of Alameda County, interested in its success at the coming National election and anxious to have harmony prevail, hereby earnestly petition that you call a primary for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, which will soon assemble at Sacramento for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Convention to meet at St. Louis.

We believe that the question of the selection of delegates to the State Convention should be submitted to the Republicans of the county, and that their expression and preference given at the polls in a harmonious contest will strengthen the party in this county. We believe it unwise for your committee to take upon themselves the responsibility of naming the delegates.

HE KILLED HIS WIFE.

Ben Hill Is on Trial for His Life Before Judge Ogden.

DILATORY PLEAS ARE DENIED.

An Attack on the Validity of the Police Court.

EVIDENCE NOT ON HAND.

All Objections Overruled and the Panel Is Called.

Benjamin L. Hill, who shot and killed his wife at the corner of Twelfth and Kirkham streets, on the evening of the 11th of last January, was placed on trial for his life before Judge Ogden, in the Superior Court, this morning.

The defendant was attired in a neat suit of gray clothes. His face was clean shaven. He was attended by his attorney, Tom Bradley, and Detective Fearn while the State was represented by District Attorney Snook and Assistant District Attorney Melvin. Detective Holland was also present as a coach to the prosecution.

When the case was called, Mr. Bradley said that he desired to withdraw the plea of not guilty on the part of his client, in order to make a motion that the case go over until a preliminary examination which would be legal, could be held or an indictment could be returned by the Grand Jury. He said that the Police Court, in which the commitment had taken place, is no court at all and has no legal existence, on the ground that the act creating it is unconstitutional and void and as a consequence, any party acting under it has no legal authority for such action.

He then elaborated the idea which has also been advanced in connection with the habeas corpus case of Colonel Thos. F. Garrity, which is now pending before Judge Ellsworth, preparatory to being appealed to the Supreme Court.

Judge Ogden said that, admitting the contention of the attorney, the Judge in the Police Court is a Justice of the Peace of the city of Oakland and, as such, could hold preliminary examinations and commit people for trial.

Mr. Bradley contended that as Justice of the Peace, the Judge in the Police Court has no right to hold preliminary examinations.

Judge Ogden held that the Judge of the Police Court is not only a Justice of the Peace but is also a magistrate and that the matter has been so held many times by the court.

M. C. Chapman, then, referring to the alleged illegal act under which the Police Court presumes to act, said that the Supreme Court had never stated that an inferior court could be created by local or special law.

Judge Ogden said it was an open question, but that it was not a matter before the court and not necessary therefore to be passed on at this time. He then denied Mr. Bradley's motion, whereupon the attorney took exception.

Mr. Bradley then wanted the case to be continued, because, although he had used the mails and wires, he had not been able to get all the evidence he desired.

The Judge said that he could not continue the case without the consent of the prosecution and that it was inexpedient to continue it unless for testimony which would have a direct bearing in the case.

The State was unwilling to continue and the panel of talesmen was called among those in the first batch being "Baby" O'Connell, who was chewing gum with great energy.

The examination of the talesmen proceeded very slowly, Mr. Bradley propounding a long series of questions to each of them, some of which were intended to ascertain whether or not the talesmen believed that a man at times could be of sound mind and that at others he could be insane.

These and similar questions, tend to support the idea that insanity is to be the theory of the defense.

PETITION FOR REDUCTION OF WATER RATES.

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County:—

The petition of the undersigned respectfully shows and represents:

That the Council of the City of Oakland acting under the power conferred on them by law, have materially reduced the charge for the use of water supplied to the public by the Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies and that the new rates made by the said City Council are based upon the entire plant of said Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies and upon their entire revenue and are not confined to their expenditures and revenue arising solely within the corporate limits of the City of Oakland;

That your petitioners are inhabitants of, and taxpayers of this County of Alameda, State of California, and reside outside the corporate limits of any City or Town in said County, and further represent that said petitioners are water-rate payers.

WHEREFORE the undersigned do hereby most respectfully petition your Honorable Board acting under the powers conferred by law for the regulation of charges for the use of water as laid down by "An act to regulate and control the sale, rental and distribution of appropriated water in this State, other than in any City, City and County, or Town therein, etc." Approved March 12, 1885, regulate and reduce the rates lawfully to be charged by the Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies for the use of water in the territory within your jurisdiction outside the corporate limits of the City of Oakland as will make them uniform with such lawful rates as were recently enacted to apply within the corporate limits of the City of Oakland;

And your petitioners will ever pray, etc.

TUESDAY.....MARCH 10, 1896

Governor Perkins makes one good point in his letter to the Tribune, after gracefully declining to stand for the nomination of Vice-President. He holds that the California delegation should go to St. Louis unpledged to any candidate. That is a reasonable proposition. Delegates can judge far better while on the ground than they can while 2000 miles distant as to who would be the most available candidates.

Recent estimates make the amount of property insured in the United States to be about $24,000,000,000. At present the foreign insurance companies are in the lead—that is, they do a larger amount of business in proportion to their numbers than American companies. Thus it is shown that twenty-six foreign companies do 40 per cent as much business as 161 American companies. But the foreign companies generally have large capitals and some of them have swallowed up weaker companies.

The remains of James G. Blaine will probably be removed from Washington to Augusta, Maine. The Star remarks that this disposition would perhaps be in accord with the desires of a man who, with all his eminence of position and brilliance of intellect, preserved a simplicity of character which endeared him to all who knew him personally. But it is to be regretted that his last resting place should be elsewhere than in this city, which is the scene of of so many of his triumphs, and which so many people visit partly for the sake of seeing its mementoes of the country's great men who have passed away.

The Dawes Bill has been denounced before the House Committee by lawyers hired for that purpose. The Dawes Bill breaks up the authority and diminishes the profits of a handful of "Indians," real and professional, in the Indian Territory, and it is worth money to oppose it. The present effort on the part of the beneficiaries of the existing system in the Indian Territory is to secure delay; to make out that another commission and another investigation is necessary. That commission, if granted, it is needless to say, would, in the opinion of the proprietors of the present good thing in the Indian Territory, need to be succeeded by another, and so on indefinitely. The Dawes Bill is the work of one of the best friends the Indian ever had. It is the result of years of examination and study of the entire Indian system.

Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania has issued his proclamation for Arbor Days in that State on April 10th and April 24th. He states that Pennsylvania has lost three-fourths of its forests and that the Commonwealth is unable to supply the timber required for its own inhabitants. Over 2,000,000 acres in the State, unfit for the uses of agriculture, have been stripped of their trees, and this territory is now unsightly and barren. "To change the current of national thought from the tree-destroying to the tree-protecting policy," says Gov. Hastings, "to add to the beauty of our mountains and valleys, to ornament the grounds of our free schools and other educational institutions, to add comfort to the traveler upon our public highways, to preserve the shores and banks of our rivers and smaller streams are objects worthy of the intelligent attention of our citizens." The Governor adds that the present generation of Americans is the first to feel the evils of a timberless region.

The Latest Bank Failure.

The failure of the Commercial and Savings Bank of San Jose was an announcement that took many people by surprise yesterday. B. D. Murphy was accounted the richest man in San Jose. He is much more of a politician than a banker. He was an aspirant for a gubernatorial nomination a few months ago. The bank was carrying large interests remote from home. There was, for instance, the Shasta Lumber Company, which finally brought down the bank. Assets could not be turned into money at once. The failure is not a great calamity. The stockholders are rich; the depositors will probably get their money at no distant day.

The failure is only another illustration that rich men do not always make safe bankers, and politicians seldom if ever. Another notable circumstance is that the commercial department of the bank carried the savings department down with it. This double character has never been the best for a savings bank. If there is any trouble it is usually on the commercial side as was the case in the San Jose failure.

Good Land and Not So Good for Colonies

There have been three or four very unfortunate colony enterprises undertaken in California within the past few years. Two of these were hardly less than frauds. The colonists were the victims of false pretenses. There is room for any number of honest colony enterprises in California. Every deception about the capacity of the soil or other natural resources deserves to be promptly exposed.

Recently a German colony enterprise was started on paper. The land selected was near the little narrow guage road running from Colfax to Grass valley. The German colonists were to come from Milwaukee. Tempting inducements were outlined on paper. Evidently, some land speculators had got hold of a tract of cheap mountain land and intended to work it off for colony purposes. But these careful Germans sent out an agent to examine and report on the capacity. The agent examined it and reported in substance that the land was not worth $10 an acre; that it was rough mountain land; that in winter the snow sometimes fell to the depth of ten feet, and the mercury went down to 20 degrees. Moreover, the fruit business was not in such a flourishing condition in that vicinity as to warrant the belief that it alone could be relied upon at that altitude for a comfortable living. In short he knocked the bottom out of the ten-acre proposition.

Whereupon the Call undertakes to show that this German agent is mistaken. We should prefer to take the judgment of any discreet man who has made a thorough examination of a tract of land for colony purposes, to any arm-chair theory. The elevation at the point mentioned is 1500. Land at that elevation in the Santa Cruz mountains may seldom be covered with more than four inches of snow which only lasts a few hours. An old-fashioned winter may be experienced at the point named for this German colony. Seeing that there are thousands of acres of rich valley land along the upper Sacramento and in many other small valleys, where the land is well watered and the climate is nearly perfect, it is a pity that colonists should be misled or that attempts should be made in that direction.

Except in a few instances ten acres is not enough to support any family in California. If it were all planted with the most profitable fruit trees there might be years when the product would be ample to carry the family through. Thus, ten-acre vineyards turned out so well for a time that they give a margin of profit to the producer over all expenses. Ten-acre orange groves have made the same record. It is probable that ten-acre lemon orchards will make quite as good a showing. But these are all exceptional cases. The colonist would need now hardly less than fifty acres of valley land, or 150 acres of foothill land to insure him a good basis of future prosperity. The old stories about what has been done in a few instances, are not good now by way of precedents. This German agent could not have gone much amiss in his estimates; nor does it appear that any of his statements need much revision.

Miller's Indictment.

We really thought that Joaquin Miller liked Oakland as much as it was possible for him to like anything. It was a rude awakening when he let out the information in a public lecture that he had something like a lofty contempt for the town on which he had been accustomed to look from his serene heights. It is hoped that this feeling is not mutual. It must have taken Miller nearly two hours the other evening to voice his discontent. He brought his audience with him. The rural districts heard him gladly. The metropolitan district was glum, silent and had a far-away feeling. In fact it was not there to any extent. It therefore missed a sound berating. Moreover, this is the season of Lent, and good people are not now given to any violent or extravagant amusements.

The indictment of laziness is a novel one. About every man in Oakland is doing his level best to earn his daily bread. If they all had time to plant olive trees among the rocks, and could sell poetry to keep the trees agoing, there might be a great deal more poetry and less bread and butter. It is hoped that Miller will abide here. What this public needs is an occasional punch in the ribs, as it were. In short, we need to be redeemed from a state of quiescence into one of intense wakefulness and watching. It may be good for the public to have the dreamy poet come down from the rocks once or twice a year to announce that he is awake and that he wants everybody else to wake up for the occasion.

Bursts of Popular Indignation.

The exhibitions of popular indignation in Spain have very little political significance. The hot heads are always the first to come to the front. In Spain students led in insults to the American flag. These were supposed to be bursts of patriotic indignation. When the atmosphere is cleared it is seen that no more permanent effect had been produced than the bursting of toy bubbles. That there should be some displeasure felt by Spain on account of the attitude of this country toward Cuba is natural enough. The struggle has been a long and desperate one.

Spain, a hundred years ago or more, had nominal possession of nearly one-third of this continent and nearly the whole of South America. Cuba is her last hold. One after another her provinces have revolted. People of the same blood, religion, language and traditions have found her yoke intolerable. In no instance has Spain ever recovered a lost province. There must have been expressions of popular indignation when Spain was forced to give up Mexico. As one province after another revolted, there were just such occasions for remonstrance as Cuba furnishes now. But remonstrance did not greatly retard the march of these Spanish states towards independence.

Charles Carleton Coffin, whose death was recently announced, was known for many years as a journalist in connection with some one of the Boston newspapers. He made his mark as a newspaper correspondent. He wrote many books that were popular with young people. He was a successful man because he made the most of limited early advantages. Most of his work was for the day and has no promise of long survival.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

The preparation of peppermint is especially an American industry. The peppermint is cut when in bloom, like hay, dried, placed in close wooden vats and steamed. The oil cells burst and the oil passes upward with the steam, which is condensed and conducted into a receiver, where the oil rises and is piped off. It takes about 350 pounds of dry peppermint to produce one pound of oil. An acre of land yields from six to ten pounds of oil, often more—even as high as fifty pounds. New York and Michigan produce the most.

It sounds absurd, but the statement is made on good authority, that more babies get lost in the shuffle in a Presidential year than in any other. It seems that the small citizen is unable to resist the contagion of the time and toddles off after processions, like his elders, but, unlike them, fails to provide himself with cab fare and a latch key.

"A man killed on a railroad never dies with his boots on," recently remarked a Reading railroad employe. I have seen, perhaps, over a hundred cases where people have been struck and killed by engines, and in every instance, when the body was picked up, the feet were found to be minus shoes. Even men wearing heavy top boots are not exempt from the invariable rule. Any old engineer will tell you the same thing. It is a mystery which nobody seems able to solve and is as inexplicable as that other strange phenomenon of the drowned man who always floats on top of the water face downward, while the woman floats face upward."

The lost article room of the elevated road system in New York receives about 30,000 miscellaneous deposits a year. Nearly 10 per cent are umbrellas, and ranking second are satchels. About half the articles are called for, and the balance, after being held for six months or a year, according to their value, are sold at auction.

Sarasate once found his memory deserting him at a recital; but he discovered the reason of the mishap in time to prevent a failure. A lady was fanning herself in the front row of the stalls. The violinist stopped playing. "Madam," he said, "how can I play in two-four time when you are beating six-eight?" The lady shut up her fan, and the recital was concluded successfully.

A Kansas City woman who heard a parlor lecture on Browning was so much interested that she decided she would acquaint herself with the merits of the poet who has been pronounced unintelligible by so many readers. She obtained a volume of his works, but threw up the sponge after she had read three verses of the first poem. Browning is entirely too enigmatical for a busy community like Kansas City.

An old New London (Ct.), whaling captain recalls the fact that during the palmy days of the whaling business there was not a sidewalk, lamp-post or policemen in New London, and good rum was only three or four cents a glass. From 400 to 600 oily, rollicking sailor men were always hanging around ashore, but there were no fights and fewer arrests. Of all the vessels of New London's once famous whaling fleet, the only survivor is the schooner Charles Colgate, built in 1850. The venerable craft is now owned by Sebastian Lawrence, and she is tied up at the Lawrence dock. Her owner would not sell her, for sentimental reasons, and when the dock property passes into railroad hands he proposes to tow her up stream, haul her out, and leave her there as a relic of the past.

Five hundred land agents are said to have gone from the various Southern States to the Northwest since the first of this year with the purpose of presenting the advantages of the sections they represent to the Northwestern farmers and inducing them to locate in the South. The Southern Industrial Association of Alabama says that reports from its agencies all over the South show that there has been a remarkable inflow of immigrants from the Northwest since Christmas, and there is every indication that the immigration will show a very large increase as the spring progresses. Meanwhile newspapers in Nebraska, Dakota and other Northwestern States allege that the trains are daily bringing disappointed farmers back from the South.

John C. Phenix has a Jersey heifer on his farm at Woodford, Me., which shows a decided superiority in instinct. One day she approached some men who were at work, and by lowing and using every bovine device, tried to attract their attention and make them follow her. At last her strange action roused their curiosity, and they went after her to see what was the matter. She led them to the end of a pasture, where they found another cow which had cut a tendon in her leg against a barbed wire fence, and was crippled and bleeding profusely. The men assisted the wounded animal, and the bovine friend displayed her evident satisfaction at the success of her good work.

M. Munkacsy, the Hungarian artist who has lived in Paris for many years, will leave that city in April to take up a permanent residence in Buda-Pesth. It was in Paris that Munkacsy won his first success. He has long harbored the intention of spending his last years in his native land, and of doing what he for the cause of art in Hungary.

Baron Jordis, the principal breeder of St. Bernard dogs in Austria, publishes a letter from the prior of St. Bernard's Hospice on the subject of the present value of these dogs. "You ask me whether in the present day our hounds render the same service to travelers as are usually ascribed to them," writes the prior. "Certainly they do. They in no way belie their past. In winter they are absolutely indispensable to us, not only because they still find wanderers buried in the snow, but because they are the only guides who can lead us safely along the proper track in the wild mountain snowstorms. The only difference is, that they do not now carry a basket or flask fastened to their necks; these are borne by one of the brothers of the hospice."

Superstitious Woman.

New York Sun.

"It's good luck to pick up a pin only when you see one in getting out of bed," said a bespectacled Vassar graduate gravely the other day, "but one must pickup all the pins one sees in the course of a day, else one will be cheated or lose a bit of money before nightfall. It's good luck when the crackling sparks from a wood fire spring toward you, and when the palm of your hand itches rub it with the rough edge of a piece of money and you will soon receive money to add to that piece. If you dream three times in succession of births you will fall heir to a fortune within the year, and something agreeable will occur in twelve hours if you happen unconsciously to put any garment on in side out. To reverse the garment changes the luck. If you open a book upside down, don't attempt to read anything in it or you will presently overhear something disagreeable to yourself. I know a great many women who believe that blue-eyed people are more lucky than dark-eyed ones, who only tell their secrets to grey-eyed friends, and who believe that a woman with a black mole on her body is bound to come to a tragic end."

CUT HIS THROAT.

Benjamin Peterson in a Fit of Insanity Tries to Suicide.

SIX DANGEROUS SLASHES.

He Only Missed His Jugular by the Merest Trifle.

THE KNIFE WAS TOO DULL.

The Rash Act Was Committed at the Co-operative Home.

Benjamin Peterson is tired of life and claims that he has become weary of living because of the machinations of both the A. P. A's and Catholics. For that reason he made a painful but unsuccessful attempt at suicide by cutting his throat in several places with a dull pocket knife this morning. The act was committed in the Home of the Co-operative Ladies' Aid Society on Thirteenth street near Washington.

Peterson was found in his bed covered with gore. There were six cuts in his throat three of which were on one side and three on the other. One of the cuts was dangerously close to the jugular. He was brought to the Receiving Hospital, where his injuries were treated by Dr. Johnson.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon Peterson was brought before Judge Ellsworth and a commission on insanity.

He seemed to be weak and sickly, though he told a straightforward story, except as regards the persons who, he claimed, had been persecuting him.

In response to questions from Judge Ellsworth, he said first that the A. P. A's wanted to kill him, then, that the Catholics wanted to dispose of him, and finally that both of them wanted to do away with him. He then said that he thought he would disappoint them by killing himself.

Peterson is a native of Sweden and 55 years of age. He formerly resided at 1501 Seventh street.

Peterson was sent to Agnews.

TRAGEDY FOR STUDENTS.

Frederick Warde Gives a Fine Address at the High School.

Frederick Warde the tragedian, gave an interesting lecture this morning at 11 o'clock in the High School gymnasium on "Tragedy and Drama."

The gymnasium was crowded with pupils, teachers and a few outsiders.

The room was decorated in honor of the distinguished speaker with bunting, flags and potted plants.

Mr. Warde was introduced by the president of the Boys' Debating Society. He spoke of the tragedy and drama and of its various interpretations. He gave an interesting review of the lives of the great actors, Booth, Barret and Macready, and their successes in histrionic art. He closed his address by numerous quotations from "The Merchant of Venice" and "Julius Caesar," and the entertainment was greatly enjoyed by his appreciative audience.

STRANGLERS ABOUT.

The Demi-monde of San Francisco in a State of Terror.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—Two men have been arrested on suspicion of strangling Bertha Paradis, the disreputable woman who was found dead in her room early this morning with finger marks of the murderer on her throat.

The police refuse to say who the men are or to give their names, but it is stated the men were seen in the woman's house shortly before the murder was committed.

The autopsy showed the woman had been strangled to death.

Another woman of the same class was strangled in the same manner about a month ago, and the inhabitants of Morton street and St. Mary's Place are in a state of terror as a result.

NOT SPOKEN YET.

The Whereabouts of the Rio de Janeiro Are Unknown.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—Nothing has yet been heard of the missing steamer City of Rio de Janeiro, with her 156 passengers and crew.

The steamer is now sixteen days overdue at Yokohama, and even if she passed that port in a storm, as the steamship people here seem to think, she should have reached Hong Kong by this time.

It is thought the Rio may have run short of coal and is proceeding slowly under sail to Hong Kong.

Another Anti-American Riot Among the Spanish Students.

SALAMANCA IN AN UPROAR.

Troops Charge the Mob Amid a Volley of Stones.

THE UNIVERSITY IS CLOSED.

Authorities Unable to Check the Turbulent Spirit.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MADRID, Mar. 10.—There was a serious anti-American riot at Salamanca yesterday evening.

Students burned the American flags amid the acclamations of the crowd.

The gen d'armes charged the rioters and dispersed them temporarily.

Later the students re-assembled and gathered another mob about them.

The prefect exhorted the students to disperse and they hooted.

Finally the prefect was compelled to call upon the police for protection.

The gen d'armes again charged the riotous students who met the onslaught with showers of stones.

Order was hardly restored.

The University is closed.

M'VEIGH'S TROUBLES.

He Takes the Usual Advice and Tells Them to a Policeman.

[illegible] McVeigh, who was arrested yesterday for battery upon his wife, has a tale to tell of his troubles since [illegible] his family to West Oakland. [illegible] claims that of late his wife [illegible] an active member of the Fish [illegible] gang instead of staying at home and attending to her duties as a wife and mother spends her time in revels with the lads of the White Chapel district. A short time ago he says he ensconced her in a pretty little home but one evening he returned to find it deserted. Upon investigation he found that Mrs. McVeigh had taken the furniture, children and other household effects to a new home which she had rented nearer the rendezvous of "the boys."

McVeigh's trial was set for the 17th. No matter which way it goes he says he will take steps to secure a divorce and will take steps to secure a divorce and the Humane Society to take charge of his five children.

An Easily Quenched Fire.

A small fire broke out at 8:07 o'clock last evening in some shavings around the boiler at Booth & Johnson's electro-plating works, 890 Broadway. Engines 2 and 6 responded and extinguished the flames before they had gained any headway.

An Old-Timer Dead.

The funeral of Mrs. H. C. Heald will be held tomorrow at the Pilgrim Congregational Church in East Oakland.

Mrs. Heald was one of the oldest residents of Oakland. For twenty-five years she lived in the same house on Ninth avenue near Fourteenth street.

MANUEL PASTOR ESCAPES.

A Dangerous Man Breaks Out of the Jail at Centerville.

He Had Been Taken There Pending Examination for Assault.

Manuel Pastor escaped today from the Centerville Jail. He has been in the County Jail here and was taken to Centerville last night to be examined this morning on a charge of assault to murder.

This morning when his breakfast was being served he suddenly rushed out of the door and away.

He was seen an hour later wading a stream near Niles.

Pastor is of a murderous disposition. The offense for which he was arrested consisted in cutting another Indian in such a manner that the latter nearly bled to death.

Only a short time ago he was discharged from the County Jail after spending eighteen months there on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

FOUND A NEW FIELD.

Mayor Davie Is After the Lake Merritt Boat House Revenue.

Mayor Davie has sent a letter to the Council regarding the boat houses on Twelfth street dam. The proprietors are paying a rental of about $350 a month to the Merritt estate and the Mayor thinks the money should go to the city. He therefor recommends that the property be placed in charge of the Board of Public Works with instructions to lease the property to parties desiring the same, and the revenue so derived would assist in keeping the Twelfth street dam in good condition.

The Mayor further advises that the city bring proceedings against the said Merritt estate for all rents previously collected.

SMOOTH MR. SCOTT.

He Pulled the Wool Well Over the Eyes of the Faithful.

HIS EXPLOITS DOWN SOUTH.

Los Angeles Chips in a Few Reminiscences of His Career.

HE SEEMS WELL SATISFIED.

San Quentin Will Suit Him as Well as Any Place.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 10.—An interesting chapter of the history of "Rev." C. H. Scott, who was recently arrested in Los Angeles and sent north for embezzling a stereopticon in Oakland, is told by the people who knew him when he was here a year ago.

He descended upon the town in a blaze of glory, figuring as a lecturer and a pious and holy man. He scraped acquaintance with as many church people as possible, and sought recommendations from all the ministers, which they readily gave. Armed with these letters he obtained many engagements to deliver lectures on "Alaska," "California," etc., illustrated with lantern views.

He disappeared one day, leaving his board bill unpaid and also owing a young man whom he had employed as advance agent, two weeks' salary. He also obtained a lot of lantern slides from a Los Angeles photographer and never paid the bills. He succeeded in swindling a number of people by taking subscriptions to the "Land of Sunshine" and pocketing the money.

The proprietors of the paper never employed Scott and knew nothing about him.

When they heard that he had been arrested for an offense committed in Oakland Scott's victims were greatly surprised at his temerity in returning to Los Angeles.

EASILY SATISFIED.

Scott Says That San Quentin Is Good Enough for Him.

At best Scott is an odd character. The fact that he has fallen from a missionary of the gospel to an alleged felon seems to effect him not at all. He does not like California and says that San Quentin is as good a place as any he has found in the State and as he firmly believes he will go there he has no complaint to make.

In prison he takes life easy. When seen this morning by a Tribune reporter he was lying in his bunk, his hands crossed behind a golfing cap on his head and his feet elevated. During the conversation he never altered his position. The only complaint he has is that he believes it is a religious organization who will prosecute and he thinks that the result will not be lenient.

"It's a kind of mistake," he said in discussing his case, "but I am in for it and I suppose these —— Christians will send me to San Quentin. Well that is as good as any place in the State. I have been here three times and I was never struck very much with any of it.

"If I had known how the whole business was I would have come up here. But I didn't so that's an end of that. I borrowed the outfit from MacMurtrey all right but there was no special time set for returning it. I thought a reasonable time would do. He's got me now and I've no defense of any account.

"Did I give any lectures in the South? No. I got strapped and went to work as a conductor on a street car and was holding the job when they arrested me. It took some pull to get that job too. Over 200 applicants but I beat them all. The officers didn't get all of the outfit. Part of it is on storage at Pomona. I would have sent the whole business up to them if I had known they wanted it. I only borrowed the machine and was willing to give it up at any time. I would have been back in two weeks anyhow if they had let me alone."

Scott's principal lecture was on Alaska, although most of his missionary work he claims was done among the Indians of Arizona. Among his effects were some posters with the following flaring heading: "Alaska! Uncle Sam's Ice Box. Our Life Among the Children of the Cold," by H. C. Scott, author, traveller and lecturer."

Detective Holland, who brought Scott up from Los Angeles speaks rather disparagingly of the Pomona storage proposition and says that Scott sold most of the outfit for $20 to a gentleman in that town.

IN THE COURT.

Scott was in the Police Court this morning for arraignment. At his request the preliminary examination was set for the 16th.

Charles Logan, a local photographer recognizes Scott as an individual who borrowed a photographer's dark room lantern from him about three months ago and sold it to Mrs. Martin at Tenth and Castro streets.

RILEY WON.

Result of the Election in the Fruitvale Sanitary District.

The election at Fruitvale yesterday for the new Board Trustees and for Sanitary Assessor, resulted in a victory for the Riley ticket.

The effort made to down Riley by some of his enemies was completely foiled. He won through his personal popularity and by the record he has made in his former term of office as an efficient and competent officer. An unusually large number of votes were polled.

The vote for trustees was as follows:

J. H. W. Riley	139
A. C. Fay	129
J. W. Miller	106
W. G. Thornalley	128

For Sanitary Assessor the vote stood:

P. H. Blake	154
W. M. Axtell	104

DR. BROWN VERY ILL.

His Nerves Giving Way as a Result of the Trial.

PNEUMONIA ALSO SETS IN.

The Prosecution Springs a Surprise on the Council.

MORE LETTERS INTRODUCED.

The Pastor's Attorney Fights in Vain for Time.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 10.—Rev. C. O. Brown was too ill to appear before the Congregational Council this morning and his attorney announced that he was in a serious condition.

He appears to be suffering from a slight attack of pneumonia. His bronchial tubes are badly affected, and according to Attorney Nagle his mind is also affected as a result of the great mental strain to which he has been subjected during the last few months.

The attorney said he doubted if Mr. Brown would ever entirely recover.

The Council proceeded without Brown and a very lively session was the result.

After Mrs. Paddock, a member of the church, had testified that Dr. Brown had called upon Mrs. Davidson to address the prayer meeting, Miss Overman was called for cross examination.

The prosecution had prepared a surprise in the shape of a number of letters which the Judge Advocate read and asked Miss Overman to identify.

Attorney Nagle, who is representing Dr. Brown's interests, objected strenuously to the reading of the letters, but the moderator ruled they should be read.

Nagle then said if the investigation was to be conducted in such a manner he saw no use for him to remain. He did not leave, however, but continued to fight every point.

There were ten letters in all read by the Judge Advocate and although it was not stated where they were obtained it is supposed they were furnished by Mrs. Davidson.

Miss Overman identified all the letters as having been probably written by her.

One letter dated July 1, 1895, she said had been re-written in the same manner as the letters to Mrs. Tunnell.

The Council adjourned at noon to meet again this afternoon.

After adjournment Nagle and Miss Overman tried to persuade the Moderator to listen to their objections as to the manner of conducting the investigation, but the Moderator's ruling had been made and could not be changed.

A BOOM FOR THE DOCTOR.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Mar. 10.—The First Congregational Church of which Rev. C. O. Brown of San Francisco, was formerly pastor, has adopted a resolution expressing "abiding faith in the entire innocence of our suffering brother—a faith founded of years of personal intercourse and Christian association with him and upon knowledge as far as it is given intimate associates to have, of his stainless and incorruptible manhood."

TWO OFFICERS IN DOUBT.

Bretz Figures He Will Go and Smith Thinks He's All Right.

Assistants to the Fire Chief and the Street Superintendent Are Anxious.

The fate of Bretz still hangs in the balance, though there is a good probability that with this afternoon he will sever his connection with the street department. He has drawn up his resignation and has handed it to the City Attorney to do with it as he sees fit, hoping of course that it will not be necessary to present it to the Board tonight.

Petrsol would like to defer the matter until the next meeting at least, yet if Wilson says so he will present the resignation today and agree to a new appointment. Wilson is more than half inclined to believe that a change should be made. He does not, however, believe that a permanent appointment should be arranged right away. He is in favor of putting M. Hall, now employed a part of the time in his office, to do the work when he is needed and to receive his pay by the day's work. In this Hall could put in most of his time between the two offices and make a fairly good salary.

The appointment of an assistant Fire Chief may also be made today. Smith has been doing the work and also acting as foreman of the chemical engine and receiving only the foreman's pay.

He is at present the favorite candidate and his temporary appointment may be made permanent.

DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU

Why I make to order for a few days $30 and $35 Dress Suits for $25, if I don't make anything? It's this way—I do make—not money, I make new friends, new customers, get people in the store who were never there before, give them perfect satisfaction, and the new friends I make each time are always glad to come again—that's the reason why. If you would like to be correctly dressed, let me make you one, you will come again.

DR. "JIM" IN COURT.

The Transvaal Filibusters Are a Drawing Card in London.

A BIG CROWD PRESENT.

Many Members of the Nobility Seated in the Lobby.

BRILLIANT COUNSEL PLEAD.

Sergeant Hay of the African Police Opposes the Raiders.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, March 10.—There was a large crowd about Bow Street Police Court today, the occasion being the formal arraignment of Dr. Leander S. Jameson, Major John Willoughby, Hon. Charles John Coventry, Col. F. White, Col. R. Grey, Major R. White, Major J. B. Stracey, Major C. H. Villiers, Capt. K. G. Kincaid-Smith, Capt. C. L. Monroe, Capt. C. P. Foley, Capt. E. S. C. Holden, Capt. C. F. Landsell, and Lieut. H. M. Grenfell, charged with violating the foreign enlistment act, passed in 1870, "to regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's subjects during the existence of hostilities between foreign states with which Her Majesty is at peace."

The Transvaal filibusterers were loudly cheered whenever recognized and there was hearty applause for "Joe" Chamberlain.

Newspaper representatives were present by the score from many parts of the world.

In the audience were the Duke of Abercorn, chairman of the British Chartered South African Company; Earl and Lady Coventry and other people of equal importance.

Had it not been for the stern demeanor of the chief justice, a popular demonstration would have occured at the opening of the court.

The array of counsel on both sides is formidable.

Sir John Bridge, chief magistrate, presided.

Sir Richard Webster opened for the crown. He dwelt in forcible language upon the gravity of the charge against the prisoners, contending that the South African Republic was a friendly state within the meaning of the foreign enlistment act and holding that Bechuanaland, from whence most of Jameson's troops came, was undoubtedly a part of the British Dominions.

Sir Richard rehearsed the circumstances of the notorious raid and mentioned a speech which Col. R. Grey made to the Bechuanaland police at Mafeking, in which he said: "I cannot tell you we are going by the Queen's orders, but you are going to fight for the supremacy of the British flag in South Africa."

The address of Sir Richard Webster was listened to with great interest.

As he proceeded, the prisoners began to look nervous and worried. Evidently they had not realized the gravity of their situation.

The first witness called was Sergeant Hay of Bechuanaland, a typical trooper. He testified to the mustering of the troops at Mafeking and to the endeavors of Jameson and Col. Grey to induce him and a few comrades to join a body of men being equipped for a march towards Johannesburg.

Sergeant Hay said Jameson and Grey expressed annoyance at the fact that some troopers hesitated and others refused to join the expedition.

After formal evidence had been submitted, the examination was adjourned for a week.

TALKING TOO MUCH.

Senator Lodge Takes a Turn at the Spanish Minister.

PRIVELEGE IS DISCUSSED.

Incidentally the Rebel Cause Gets Quite a Boom.

WEYLER IS IN BAD ODOR.

Quick Divorces to Be Shut Down on by Congress.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—As soon as the Senate journal had been read today Lodge (Mass.) rose to a question of personal privilege.

He sent to the desk and had read the Spanish Minister's reference in an interview to Lodge's utterances, calling in question the translation of the statement attributed to General Weyler, in which the latter declared he would "exterminate" the insurgents.

Gray (Del.) said the United States should proceed according to the judgment of a self-respecting nation, unmoved by criticism at Valencia or Madrid, and without being turned aside to discuss the question of translation between a Senator and the Minister.

Teller (Colo.) said the rule was unvarying against a communication by a foreign Minister except through the State Department. Twice had foreign Ministers been sent home for a statement of less importance than this.

"But, considering the circumstances," added Teller, "had I been in authority I would not have sent him home for this offense, but I would have had the Secretary of State in a most kindly way suggest that a repetition of the offense would lead to his going home."

There was no probability that Spain would dismiss in an offensive way to the passage of the pending resolution, Teller said. Spain knew we had a right to recognize the belligerents. Spain would naturally show some feeling, but she would not go to war.

There was a ripple of applause which the Vice President checked when Teller referred to his sympathy with the Cubans.

"I would be delighted," said he, "to hear that Havana had passed into the hands of the insurgents. I would be delighted to hear the insurgents had run the Spanish soldiers into the sea." But the Senator added he felt no irritation over the student ebullition in Spain.

In [illegible] Teller vehemently asserted the American people would not tolerate any dictation or criticism from the foreign representatives accredited here.

The Cuban discussion ended and Turpie took the floor on the Dupont case.

Hoar's resolution introduced yesterday providing the Cuban question go over until April 6th, went over until tomorrow. Hoar said he was in poor health and unable to speak today.

NO DECISION AS YET.

The Yountville Home Matter to Come Up Again Saturday.

A SECRET SESSION HELD.

Lyon Post Issues a Call to Its Members for Tonight.

AN INVESTIGATION CERTAIN.

No Steps Are to Be Taken Unless All Are Present.

The charges made against the management of the Soldiers' Home at Yountville are by no means disposed of yet. Statements have been printed to the effect that the examining committee has declined to act upon the charges made by Lyon Post, on the ground that they are not well founded, but this is not so. The hearing recently conducted was only partial and postponement was taken to Saturday next when the details will be gone into.

Speaking of the rumor that the investigating committee will not proceed further with the charges, Commander Norton of Lyon Post of this city said today: "I do not believe the story. The investigating committee at its meeting Saturday last met until late Sunday and at the time had not visited the home. The committee certainly could not report without going to the home and the members would not go to the home unless we went with them. That, in fact, was decided upon at Saturday's meeting, namely, that when the committee went to the home delegations from and the directors were to be present. There are such charges brought on the committee like Judge ... and ... Waiting and they would not make a report without hearing both sides."

In this connection, Commander Norton has issued the following call:

"A special meeting of Lyon Post No. 8, will be held at post headquarters this evening, Tuesday, March 10th, at 7:30 sharp for the ... of new members and ... matters connected with the investigation of the Veterans' Home or any other business that may properly be brought before the post."

At the close of the business session, short addresses were made by the pastor, Rev. Chas. Wendte, and by Rev. E. B. Leavitt of Brattleborough, Vt., Rev. Mrs. E. T. Wilkes, John P. Irish and others.

MANGLED BY A CAR.

Two Little Girls Meet a Heart-Rending Fate.

THEY WERE ROLLER SKATING.

An Eighth Street Car Came Suddenly Upon Them.

ESCAPE WAS IMPOSSIBLE.

The Only Children of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Booth Killed.

"I'm going out to play, mamma," said pretty little Katie Booth, yesterday evening, "I'll meet papa at the train." She lifted up her child-like lips and kissed her mother farewell, and then tripped out gaily on to the walk.

"Be a good girl, Katie," was the parting injunction.

"Yes, mamma," was the reply, as the little one buckled on a pair of roller skates.

It was shortly after half past 5 o'clock. Twenty minutes later, Ida, the five-year-old sister of Katie, started out to find her to tell her to prepare for dinner.

"Kiss me good bye, mamma. I'm going out to find Katie," lisped the little curly headed tot.

Ten minutes later the mangled forms of the two children lay beneath the wheels of an Eighth street electric car.

The cruel accident which robbed the parents of their only children, is one of the most pathetic and deplorable that has occurred in Oakland for many years, and today sorrowing friends join in grief with the bereft father and mother over the unhappy affair.

The two little girls lived with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Booth, on the northeast corner of Eighth and Magnolia streets. Katie was an exceptionally bright little girl of 10 years and attended the Cole School. Her teacher, Miss McClure, of the low 4th grade, recognized her as one of the smartest in the class. Today the flag on the school has been lowered to half-mast in her memory.

Ida Emily had not yet seen her sixth year and had until recently been attending a kindergarten on Chestnut street. Both were very pretty children and were always welcomed by their large circle of friends.

After Katie had bid her mother her last good bye and had buckled on her skates, she coasted down the cement walks to Adeline street and thence to Seventh street to await the 6 o'clock train on which her father was to arrive. Then shortly after, baby Ida came along to tell her sister not to wait but to come home and prepare for the evening meal.

They met Clare Walton, a ten-year-old school mate and playfully, laughing in childish glee, the three started up Adeline street on their homeward journey.

Katie, ever mindful of her little sister's pleasure, unselfishly gave Ida one skate and then the two, hand in hand, went up the street to their death. They went so fast that Clare Walton could not keep up with them.

THE MOMENT OF DEATH

Up Adeline street the two little ones sped until Eighth street was reached. There they met car No. 10 of the Eighth street line going east. They hesitated a moment but when the car had nearly passed stepped back to the rear end to cross the street, when from the shadow of the east bound car came car No. 12, going west. The children still had their hands clasped, but Ida was slightly in the lead and before she saw the approaching car, it was almost on to her.

Katie seemed to keep her head, but their momentum was not easily checked. However if it were not for the fact that a stone had become lodged between the roller of Ida's skate, the awful calamity might have been averted. As it was, little Ida tripped up and plunged forward in front of the car, dragging Katie along too. Instead of trying to free herself the brave little child, Katie, clasped at her sister in the vain endeavor to save her life, but too late, for the wheels were upon both of them and the spark of life was soon extinguished out.

This is the most authentic account of the affair which has yet been reached, for the only eye witnesses of the awful accident are considerably mixed up in their versions. Some state the car was going a very fast while others as positive that the car had slowed down at the time.

A sister of the bereaved mother who is now at the home does not think the car company to blame at all. She said: "I feel confident Katie lost her life trying to save her little sister Ida, and I think Ida stumbled and fell beneath the wheels."

Clare Walton is positive of seeing a pebble in little Ida's skate at the accident, but she had her back turned when the children were struck. All she heard was a cry and then saw the mangled form of Katie under the front truck while poor Ida was pinioned by the rear wheels.

The car was in charge of Conductor ... and Motorman John McLean. According to the statements of witnesses, McLean brought the car to a standstill almost immediately.

Directly after the accident Dr. Huntington was summoned, but no earthly skill was of any avail. He had the bodies placed on a lawn and covered with a sheet. They were afterward removed to the morgue.

THE FATHER'S SHOCK.

When the father of the girls alighted from the 6 o'clock train, he missed the smiling faces of his daughters who generally met him. At Eighth street he heard of the accident and going to the scene raised the sheet covering the bodies. He failed to recognize the first of the mangled forms. He glanced at the first of the mangled forms and then at the other and with the cry "It's my Ida," fainted. Friends took him in charge and broke the news to the mother. Both parents are prostrated and it is feared Mrs. Booth is seriously ill.

Motorman McLean, who had only been in the employ of the company for a few months, feels the sad affair exceedingly. He has given himself up at the police station, but has been released on his own recognizance.

"I did my utmost to prevent the awful accident," he said, "and I swear I am not at fault. It breaks me all up to think of the poor little things and I would give years of my life if it could be undone. I stopped my car as soon as I could possibly do so, after seeing the children, but it was too late. They came running out from behind Car No. 10, just as I reached the crossing and before I knew it, I was upon them. I had slowed down at the crossing as anyone can tell but the cars are heavy, and despite using my utmost strength, I could not stop in time to prevent the awful affair. As it was I stopped within about ten feet."

Goethe's Visit to Carlsbad.

There is no doubt that the life of the great poet was greatly prolonged by drinking the waters of the Sprudel Spring. In our day we have the Sprudel Spring brought to us in the form of Salt, which is obtained by evaporation from the waters of Carlsbad.

The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt is in no sense a mere purgative, but as an alterative and eliminative remedy which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes obstruction by aiding nature. It acts soothingly and without pain. Beware of imitations.

The inquest on the remains will be held tomorrow evening and the funeral will take place from the family residence 1162 Eighth street, the following day at 10 o'clock. Interment will be at Cypress Lawn.

BOTH SIDES KEPT BUSY.

The Fight Regarding Primaries Will Soon Be Settled.

A Four to Two Vote In Favor of Direct Nominations Is Claimed.

The question of whether or not primaries shall be held for the selection of delegates to the National convention from this district will be decided tomorrow evening at a meeting to be held by the Alameda County members of the Congressional Committee. The meeting will be held in Attorney S. P. Hall's office at 7:30.

It looks now as if the primaries will not go as E. K. Taylor of Alameda who on Saturday was disposed to favor them is now inclined to agree to the appointment of the delegates. This would make the committee vote stand as follows:

For primaries—Earl and Morrow.

Against primaries—Morrison, Jagler, Long and Taylor.

The friends of Dr. Pardee are favoring the primaries and are therefor circulating the following petition for presentation to the committee tomorrow night.

To the Honorable the members of the Third Congressional District Committee—Gentlemen: We the undersigned members of the Republican party of Alameda County, interested in its success at the coming National election and anxious to have harmony prevail, hereby earnestly petition that you call a primary for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, which will soon assemble at Sacramento for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Convention to meet at St. Louis.

We believe that the question of the selection of delegates to the State Convention should be submitted to the Republicans of the county and that their expression and preference given at the polls in a harmonious contest will strengthen the party in this county. We believe it unwise for your committee to take upon themselves the responsibility of naming the delegates.

HE KILLED HIS WIFE.

Ben Hill Is on Trial for His Life Before Judge Ogden.

DILATORY PLEAS ARE DENIED.

An Attack on the Validity of the Police Court.

EVIDENCE NOT ON HAND.

All Objections Overruled and the Panel Is Called.

Benjamin L. Hill, who shot and killed his wife at the corner of Twelfth and Kirkham streets, on the evening of the 11th of last January, was placed on trial for his life before Judge Ogden, in the Superior Court, this morning.

The defendant was attired in a neat suit of gray clothes. His face was clean shaven. He was attended by his attorney Tom Bradley, and Detective Fearn while the State was represented by District Attorney Snook and Assistant District Attorney Melvin. Detective Holland was also present as a coach to the prosecution.

When the case was called, Mr. Bradley said that he desired to withdraw the plea of not guilty on the part of his client in order to make a motion that the case go over until a preliminary examination which would be legal, could be held or an indictment could be returned by the Grand Jury. He said that the Police Court, in which the commitment had taken place, is no court at all and has no legal existence, on the ground that the act creating it is unconstitutional and void and as a consequence, any party acting under it has no legal authority for such action.

He then elaborated the idea which has also been advanced in connection with the habeas corpus case of Colonel Thos. F. Garrity, which is now pending before Judge Ellsworth, preparatory to being appealed to the Supreme Court.

Judge Ogden said that, admitting the contention of the attorney, the Judge in the Police Court is a Justice of the Peace of the city of Oakland and, as such, could hold preliminary examinations and commit people for trial.

Mr. Bradley contended that as Justice of the Peace the Judge in the Police Court has no right to hold preliminary examinations.

Judge Ogden held that the Judge of the Police Court is not only a Justice of the Peace but is also a magistrate and that the matter has been so held many times by the court.

M. C. Chapman, then, referring to the alleged illegal act under which the Police Court presumes to act, said that the Supreme Court had never stated that an inferior court could be created by local or special law.

Judge Ogden said it was an open question, but that it was not a matter before the court and not necessary therefore to be passed on at this time. He then denied Mr. Bradley's motion, whereupon the attorney took exception.

Mr. Bradley then wanted the case to be continued because, although he had used the mails and wires he had not been able to get all the evidence he desired.

The Judge said that he could not continue the case without the consent of the prosecution and that it was inexpedient to continue it unless for testimony which would have a direct bearing in the case.

The State was unwilling to continue and the panel of talesmen was called among those in the first batch being "Baby" O'Connell, who was chewing gum with great energy.

The examination of the talesmen proceeded very slowly, Mr. Bradley propounding a long series of questions to each of them, some of which were intended to ascertain whether or not the talesmen believed that a man at times could be of sound mind and that at others he could be insane.

These and similar questions, tend to support the idea that insanity is to be the theory of the defense.

AN OVATION TO WARDE.

His Impersonation of "King Lear" a Great Success.

"Kidnapped" Hugely Enjoyed by the Patrons of the Oakland.

Frederick Warde opened his engagement of a week before a large audience at the Macdonough theater last night in the role of "King Lear."

"Lear" has never been a popular character, perhaps for the reason that few actors have felt they were able to interpret it in a manner to please the public. Booth, with all his genius, failed to idealize the character, mainly because he lacked the physical vigor which is one of the requirements of the role. When, therefore, Mr. Warde essayed the part the undertaking was marvelled at by many of his admirers, and yet, it may well be doubted if there is any role in Mr. Warde's repertoire in which he appears to greater advantage. That was the opinion of those who saw the performance last night.

Mr. Warde's conception of the great character is that of a scholar and his delineation is that of an actor of superior ability. There was tenderness in the voice in the more gentle scenes and intense feeling and hatred in the passionate ones. The famous curse was delivered without a suggestion of rant and the simulation of madness and a gradual breaking of the heart of the old man was true to nature. There was scarcely a climax in the piece in which appreciation was not made manifest on the part of the audience, and at the end of every act Mr. Warde was time and again called before the curtain. Indeed, the manner in which the work of the star was received amounted to an ovation ,because Mr. Warde had succeeded in bringing to the attention of the people one of the most interesting, if not the most exacting and complex characters of the great poet.

Mr. Warde was supported by an excellent company with the work of every member of which satisfaction must be expressed. The setting of the piece was superb, more especially in the scene on the heath, during which the audience was treated to the presentation of a storm, the realism being never equalled in any production on the local stage.

Mr. Warde was the recipient of a floral clock between the last two acts on the dial of which the hands indicated 11 o'clock. This was a souvenir from Oakland lodge of Elks and symbolized the custom of that order of drinking the toast "Our Absent Brothers," which is done in every lodge of the organization at that hour at night. Mr. Warde was quick to catch the significance of the souvenir and, in accepting it, made a little speech expressive of his appreciation of gratitude both to the lodge and the audience.

"Long Lear" will be repeated next Friday evening.

Tonight D'Ennery's celebrated romance "The Mountebank," will be presented. Warde's production of this popular play is splendidly staged and its many picturesque scenes are given lifelike portrayal, both from an artistic and theatrical standpoint.

A CONCERT COMING.

The engagement of the celebrated artists, Ondricek and Materna for one concert at the Macdonough next Monday evening, will almost equal in point of interest the Paderewski concert. Ondricek has fairly captured the East and has aroused more enthusiasm than any violinist who has visited America. Ondricek is court violinist to the Emperor of Austria and has had five orders conferred upon him by European rulers, Queen Victoria, Queen of Roumania, Emperor of Russia, King of Italy and King of Denmark.

Materna, the renowned dramatic soprano, is too well known to require mention. Her name alone is sufficient to crowd the theater. The sale of seats begins next Friday.

THE OAKLAND THEATER.

Judging by the enthusiastic audience which filled the Oakland theater last evening to witness the initial production of D. K. Higgins' comedy drama, "Kidnapped," it is evident that Oaklanders realize the efforts made by the management of the popular house to please all patrons. The patrons of the gallery receive just as much attention and courtesy as do the occupants of the best box and in this way Manager Collins has struck the keynote of success. Then, too, it is always a sure thing that a good show will be witnessed. This is particularly evident in the present engagement of the Bacon Company.

Frank Bacon as "Luis Rhinegold," interpreted the difficult character in a masterly manner which showed careful study, while Virginia Jackson in the dual role of "Maggie McMooney" and "Mother Poquad," was very clever. All the other characters were well sustained and the carefully executed bits of business spoke well for the training of Stage Manager Webster.

Next week "Held in Slavery" will be produced.

THE BALDWIN.

The popularity of Hoyt's production was witnessed at the Baldwin last night when his latest contribution to dramatic literature, "A Milk White Flag," was given its initial production on California boards.

The play, which is on the line of a satire, is light, bright and funny. Absurd complications and the ultimate disentanglements are abundant, while the burlesque on the National Guard creates uproarous applause.

"The White Flag" is certainly one of Hoyt's best productions and from the reception it received last night a flattering run is certain.

THE COLUMBIA.

John L. Sullivan, pugilist-actor, was the star attraction at the Columbia last evening. "The Wicklow Postman" gives him ample opportunity to display his histrionic ability, as well as show his auditors a few points in sparring.

THE ALCAZAR.

A pretty little operetta entitled "The Charity Girls" is the first part of the bill at the Alcazar, while "The Mikado" with its popular old-time characters, follows. The Carleton Opera Company closes Sunday evening and then a run of vaudeville performances will commence.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

"The Silver King" at the Grand has established a reputation on its merits and the production given last night was decidedly a pleasing one. The piece is beautifully staged and all the characters well sustained.

THE TIVOLI.

"The Hoolah" drew a packed house at the Tivoli last evening. It has been on the boards before, but much new material in the line of songs, dances, gags and funny business has been introduced. The new production is as elaborately staged as before.

THE ORPHEUM.

The Alfos family and Charles B. Ward are receiving the hits this week at the Orpheum. Some of the former favorites are still retained and in all the show is decidedly interesting.

Manager Walter always gives his patrons a good show. He employs the best talent regardless of price and the artists who appear at his house are recruited from the best Eastern and European novelties.

WHY WARDE IS POPULAR.

He Is Ever Ready to Answer the Call of Charity.

Courteous Response to the Request of the Womans' Exchange.

Frederick Warde, the renowned tragedian, displays a very commendable spirit in devoting so much time and labor to the cause of charity. He gave a recitation for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange in San Francisco recently, and next Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock he will give a similar entertainment at the First Congregational Church for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange in this city.

In tendering his services to the committee that called upon him for that purpose, he said that in giving these recitations he was accomplishing a double purpose—he assisted a deserving charity and at the same time provided an opportunity for the school children and others who could not afford to attend regular performances to hear him some of his favorite roles.

"I am very fond of the children," he said "and have a warm place in my heart for the deserving poor, and therefore am always ready to assist both. My only conditions are that you fix the price of admission within easy range of all."

This is a trait of character of a very high order, and one well calculated to [illegible] to the public, which already holds him in very high esteem, both as a gentleman and actor.

There is no oasis in the desert of this life so refreshing as the wand of genius, wielded by the hand of charity, which is fully exemplified in the person of Mr. Warde.

The ladies of the Woman's Exchange have fixed the price of admission at 10 cents for school children and 25 cents for adults. Tickets may be obtained at Sherman & Clay's or at the Woman's Exchange.

HAS A BROADER SCOPE.

S. E. Moffett on the Government Handling of Public Works.

It Would Bring About Good Results If Politics Could Be Avoided.

In a paper read before the Oakland Institute of Applied Christianity last evening, S. E. Moffett, editor of the Examiner, combatted the argument that public agencies are necessarily extravagant by a forcible array of facts and figures. It is said that while it is a fact that many undertakings of the government are unduly expensive it does not follow that all are or that this is necessarily so. The motive for economical management is the same one of self interest either in public or private agency.

The personal supervision of the proprietor is no longer common in great corporations but is delegated to a hired man. This is virtually the same whether it be a private trust or monopoly or a government agency. The government can command as good skill as any private employer. It can appeal to more motives for efficient service. It can confer civic honor and public preferment. It appeals to public spirit and esprit de corps, while private employers only offer money and must pay more for the same service.

The speaker said that the postoffice system gives better service at less cost than could be supplied under private management. The experience of all civilized countries has been that the government should undertake this service. In many countries the telegraph is now operated successfully as an adjunct of the postal service. Governments successfully operate railways in the German States, Austria-Hungary and the Australian colonies and the management is efficient and satisfactory.

There is no watered stock in government agencies upon which the public must pay dividends. Then the government can command money at lower rates than private corporations. The field of government activity is being greatly enlarged in European countries and particularly in the matter of municipal ownership of lighting and water supplies and street railways.

The speaker referred to the facts set forth in Albert Shaw's book, "Municipal Government in Europe," to confirm the economy of public agencies in these matters and said that the service was eminently satisfactory. While much is yet to be accomplished in the reform of our municipal affairs," he said, "Yet when American citizens learn to select their officials for efficiency and honesty rather than for their political pull, we may do all that European countries and municipalities are doing as public agencies for the satisfaction of all citizens and may do more."

The paper was followed by a general discussion and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Moffett.

It was announced that at the meeting next Monday evening Adna A. Denison would present a paper on "Labor and Capital," illustrated by charts.

EIGHT MILES AN HOUR

A Limit Is Set on the Speed of the Street Cars.

THE COUNCIL IN SESSION.

Money to Be Spent Dredging at the City Wharves.

STREET OPENINGS HANDLED.

The Exempt Firemen's Case to Be Taken on Appeal.

The Council met last evening for the purpose of attending to matters demanding immediate action. The ordinance regulating the speed of street cars and steam engines and making it a misdemeanor to run over eight miles an hour within the district bounded by Washington, Franklin street, Sixteenth street and the water front, was finally passed without a dissenting vote.

The ordinance allowing the Piedmont Sanitary District to connect its sewer with the East Side sewer was finally passed.

Before voting Dow explained that while under the contract entered into between the Sanitary District and the city the former was to pay to the later $5000, the city must not consider it a part of the general fund to be drawn on at will. It was to be used, he said, to improve the East Lake sewer, and its outlet and an ordinance ordering the work would soon be introduced.

The ordinance authorizing the Board of Public Works to purchase 2000 feet of hose for the fire department was finally passed.

The ordinance to open Thirteenth street from Kirkham to Center street to a uniform width of sixty feet was passed to print, the rules being suspended.

The rules were suspended and the ordinance to open Twenty-fourth avenue from Sixteenth street to the northern boundary line of the city was passed to print.

The ordinance directing the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids for dredging around the city wharves from the Lighthouse Lake to the government channel, and appropriating $18,000 for the work excited a little discussion.

Mr. Bassett said that he understood the water in the channel is not as deep as it is around the city wharves at the present time and for that reason he opposed spending the money. Furthermore, he said, the city had not $18,000 to spare and he did not think that any contractors would undertake the work when they learned of the crowd of piers for this and similar purposes. He wound up his remarks by repeating the sentiment of the shallowness at the foot of Peralta street. He said he had learned the fact from Edson Adams.

Mott said he understood that Adams is building some wharves on his Alice street property and would naturally oppose any improvements to an opposition wharf.

Bassett replied with some warmth that he had every reason to believe that Mr. Adams told the truth.

The roll was called on the motion to suspend the rules and later on passing to print. The vote stood:

Ayes, Brosnahan, Buckland, Cassell, Dow, Heitmann, Marshall, Mott, Towle and President Mahoney.

Noes, Bassett.

Absent, Watkinson.

When the resolution appropriating $100 to be used by the city attorney in appealing the Exempt Firemen's mandamus suit, Brosnahan wanted to know if this meant employing outside legal aid for the City Attorney.

Peirsol responded that the City Attorney had not asked for legal assistance.

Bassett opposed the resolution as he thought it meant only piling up expense to the city and defeat in the long run.

The resolution was however finally adopted, Bassett alone voting no.

GRIP DEALS HARD BLOWS.

Some of Its Consequences Described by a Famous English Authority on Nervous Disease.

Dr. W. R. Gowers, the leading British authority on nervous diseases tells how acute maladies like influenza leave the system weak and a prey to various evils.

Mental dullness, indisposition to effort of any sort, and stiffness in the limbs, legs and back, are among the ugly things that the hateful grip leaves behind it. Health and spirits are dragged to a very low level and kept there. Maybe the sufferer puts on a bold face and insists that he doesn't need any more medicine. He will pick up and be all right in little while, he says.

So he will provided he acts like a man of sense and hastens the return of his old energy with that sound, reliable stimulant, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Experiments unnumbered have been made to find something to tone and brace bodies exhausted by influenza and kindred diseases. Whatever the future will bring forth, the fact is solidly established that a good medicinal whiskey is the thing needed to quicken the languid circulation, thus preventing the excess of blood in some parts of the body and an undersupply of it in others.

Duffy's Pure Malt is not made for barroom purposes, but solely as a medicine, to be used in debilitated states of the body. Rigid analysis has shown it to be free from trace of harmful substance.

Its effects are immediate and so wholly beneficial that even the dreaded grip has lost most of its terrors where this peerless whiskey is used.

WANT A BETTER ROAD.

Residents of Eighteenth Street Will Petition the Council.

A Variety of Social and Business News From West Oakland.

WEST OAKLAND, March 10.—Steps are being taken by several residents of Eighteenth street living west of Kirkham street and by others residing east of Adeline street to request the City Council to compel the owners of realty within that territory to macadamize the street in front of their property. The present condition of Eighteenth street, between Kirkham and Adeline streets is almost unfit for travel and the tall trees that are permitted to grow on the sidewalks make that thoroughfare a very advantageous place to commit depredations, especially on a dark night.

About three years ago the Council ordered the street to be macadamized with the exception of the portion in question. At the time quite a howl was raised by the other property owners because they did not think that it was just that any discrimination should be made and they submitted that to improve a portion of the street and to leave another part of it unimproved would tend to injure the thoroughfare instead of to better it.

Thomas Ward, the well-known cattle dealer, who resides at Eighteenth and Cypress streets, when being interrogated on the subject by a Tribune reporter said: "This matter has been allowed to rest long enough and we now intend to take some action towards bringing this matter before the proper authorities. There is no reason why the owners of property in that section should not be ordered to improve the street in front of their land, and I believe that in justice to all concerned, the Council should bring this matter up at the earliest opportunity. The condition of the street there is a perfect disgrace and it is a shame that it should be allowed to remain so. In the summer time a person cannot drive over it without getting his eyes filled with dust and in rainy weather a vehicle is liable to be upset on account of the numerous gulches."

Many of the residents west of Kirkham street favor changing the name of Eighteenth street from Kirkham to the bay to "Camellia avenue" unless the other portion is macadamized and in fact, that part of the street is already becoming generally known by that name.

RUNAWAY BOYS CAUGHT.

Archibald Sparman, aged 16 years and Vernon Valentine, one year younger, two runaway lads from home, were caught at Sixteenth and Peralta streets Sunday morning by Detectives Shorey and Williams. Sparman belongs in Golden Gate and Valentine hails from Sacramento. The parents of the Sparman youngster called at the City Prison later in the day and took their wayward son to his home. Valentine is yet in jail where he will be held until his parents send for him.

MET WITH DEFEAT.

Sunday afternoon the Saturday Press baseball team crossed bats with the St. Mary's College nine and lost by a score of 15 to 9. The game was very interesting and some brilliant plays were made on both sides. The West Oakland boys are confident of turning the tables the next time they meet.

FIREMEN DRILL.

The Point fire engine company drilled Sunday at the Prescott school and made a very creditable showing. All the boys were on hand and the Chief was much pleased with their work.

GENERAL GLEANINGS.

The Los Angeles train ran over a cow near Fresno Sunday and as a result of the accident the train arrived nearly two hours late.

A force of workmen are at work today laying a sewer on Fourteenth street between Center and Peralta streets. An eight-inch pipe is being put in.

The property at 1417 Fourteenth street belonging to the Mateo Gilardi estate, is to be sold on March 25th by order of the Superior Court.

The funeral of John Jespson, an employe of the Contra Costa Laundry, who died Saturday, was held Sunday afternoon. Many of his old friends at the laundry were present to pay their last respects to one who in life was well liked by all who knew him.

Dean Stanley and the Sailor.

It is stated that Dean Stanley once went to an inn in a country village and, after ordering a pot of ale, sat down on a bench beside an old sailor. The Dean soon got into conversation with the man, and presently asked him if he could say the points of the compass. The sailor could do so. "Now," said the Dean, "can you say them backward?" This also the sailor was able to do. After a pause the latter asked the Dean whether he could say the Lord's Prayer. Dean Stanley repeated the prayer as desired. "Now, then," said the sailor, "can you repeat it backward?" The Dean made the attempt, closing his eyes the better to concentrate his thoughts on his task. At length he finished. "Yes," said the sailor, "that's all very well, but haven't you heard that we must watch as well as pray?" The rogue had drank the cleric's beer while the latter was engaged in saying the Lord's Prayer backward.

Another Explosion!

Was affected last night by experienced men.

It occurred in the mammoth furniture and carpet stores of J. L. Lyon & Son, 1250-52 Broadway, corner Fifteenth street. The combination on prices was first pried off and then the prices were blown clear out of the question. Don't buy anything before calling on them.

Miss Shippen of Chicago has made a study of entertaining children, and is now making her gift of some account. She assists at children's parties, arranging beforehand something suitable to the age and tastes of the little company. Last season she was engaged in this way at twenty-five private houses and added to the pleasure of no less than 800 children. Givers of children's parties are, no doubt, often glad to have such valuable assistance; the spirit of hospitality is sometimes checked through inability to be interesting.

WOULD BE A GOOD MOVE.

Hoffschneider's Offer Finds Favor With the Board.

If It Were Open Liquor Could Be Kept From the County Infirmary.

The afternoon session of the Board of Supervisors brought forward William Hoffschneider with his oft-reiterated proposition to sell to the county a road leading from his place.

At present pedestrians are obliged to pass the infirmary door and in consequence liquor often finds its way to the inmates. This of course is against all rules, but the Superintendent has been unable to stop the practice as long as the only exit and entrance for the residents in the country beyond is the avenue leading directly past the door.

It was argued that if Hoffschneider's road was purchased the infirmary road might be closed up and thus much good be worked in the end, as well as giving residents a more direct route to their homes. Hoffschneider offered the strip of land, properly fenced, for $1,500 and had the supervisors known there was sufficient money available for the purchase a bargain would have been struck. As it was the matter was referred to Supervisor Talcott and the District Attorney with full power to act.

The residents along School street from the Redwood road to Boston avenue petitioned the Board to allow the widening of that thoroughfare. They represented that the necessary land would be deeded to the county free of charge. However, in filing their road, they neglected to have it acknowledged by a notary. In consequence the road was invalid, but Supervisor Talcott came to the rescue and asked permission to direct the County Surveyor to prepare bonds and bids for the county. The request was granted.

Charles Colcutt of Irvington and C. Sprotte of Mission, San Jose, were granted permits to conduct saloons.

Supervisor Talcott drew attention to the fact that the Alameda Argus desired to be allowed a higher rate for the county advertising. At present the notices from the County Clerk's office are printed for $15 per month while for the Assessor's work only $25 monthly is charged. A motion by Supervisor Talcott, however, raising each item $10 monthly was lost.

The Board then adjourned to meet next Monday.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Notice of Hearing Before the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda of a Petition of A. P. Newbert and Others, for the Purpose of Regulating and Controlling the Charges for Water and Compensation to be Collected by the Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies in the County of Alameda, State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT on the ...th day of March, 1896, at the Board rooms of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda, City of Oakland, of said County, at 10 o'clock A. Newbert and others for the purpose of regulating and controlling the rates and compensation to be collected by the Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies, for the County of Alameda, will be duly heard and considered by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda.

Said petition reads as follows:

PETITION FOR REDUCTION OF WATER RATES.

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County:—

The petition of the undersigned respectfully shows and represents:

That the Council of the City of Oakland acting under the power conferred on them by law, have materially reduced the charge for the use of water supplied to the public by the Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies and that the new rates made by the said City Council are based upon the entire plant of said Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies and upon their entire revenue and are not confined to their expenditures and revenues arising solely within the corporate limits of the City of Oakland;

That therefore rates which will yield a lawful revenue within the said City of Oakland will fail to yield a lawful revenue when made to apply outside said limit;

That your petitioners are inhabitants and taxpayers of this County of Alameda, State of California, and reside outside the corporate limits of any City or Town in said County, and further represent that said petitioners are water-rate payers.

WHEREFORE the undersigned do hereby most respectfully petition your Honorable Board acting under the powers conferred by law for the regulation of charges for the use of water as laid down by "An act to regulate and control the sale, rental and distribution of appropriated water in this State, other than in any City, City and County, or Town therein, etc." Approved March 12, 1885, regulate and reduce the rates lawfully to be charged by the Contra Costa and Oakland Water Companies for the use of water in the territory within your jurisdiction outside the corporate limits of the City of Oakland as will make them uniform with such lawful rates as were recently enacted to apply within the corporate limits of the City of Oakland;

And your petitioners will ever pray, etc.

TUESDAY..................MARCH 10, 1896

Governor Perkins makes one good point in his letter to the Tribune, after gracefully declining to stand for the nomination of Vice President. He holds that the California delegation should go to St. Louis unpledged to any candidate. That is a reasonable proposition. Delegates can judge far better while on the ground than they can while 2000 miles distant as to who would be the most available candidate.

Recent estimates make the amount of property insured in the United States to be about $21,000,000,000. At present the foreign insurance companies are in the lead—that is, they do a larger amount of business in proportion to their numbers than American companies. Thus it is shown that twenty-six foreign companies do 40 per cent as much business as 161 American companies. But the foreign companies generally have large capitals and some of them have swallowed up weaker companies.

The remains of James G. Blaine will probably be removed from Washington to Augusta, Maine. The Star remarks that this disposition would perhaps be in accord with the desires of a man who, with all his eminence of position and brilliance of intellect, preserved a simplicity of character which endeared him to all who knew him personally. But it is to be regretted that his last resting place should be elsewhere than in this city, which is the scene of so many of his triumphs, and which so many people visit partly for the sake of seeing its mementoes of the country's great men who have passed away.

The Dawes Bill has been denounced before the House Committee by lawyers hired for that purpose. The Dawes Bill breaks up the authority and diminishes the profits of a handful of "Indians," real and professional, in the Indian Territory, and it is worth money to oppose it. The present effort on the part of the beneficiaries of the existing system in the Indian Territory is to secure delay; to make out that another commission and another investigation is necessary. That commission, if granted, it is needless to say, would, in the opinion of the proprietors of the present good thing in the Indian Territory, need to be succeeded by another, and so on indefinitely. The Dawes Bill is the work of one of the best friends the Indian ever had. It is the result of years of examination and study of the entire Indian system.

Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania has issued his proclamation for Arbor Days in that State on April 10th and April 24th. He states that Pennsylvania has lost three-fourths of its forests and that the Commonwealth is unable to supply the timber required for its own inhabitants. Over 2,000,000 acres in the State, unfit for the uses of agriculture, have been stripped of their trees and this territory is now unsightly and barren. "To change the current of national thought from the tree-destroying to the tree-protecting policy," says Gov. Hastings, "to add to the beauty of our mountains and valleys, to ornament the grounds of our free schools and other educational institutions, to add comfort to the traveler upon our public highways, to preserve the shores and banks of our rivers and smaller streams are objects worthy of the intelligent attention of our citizens." The Governor adds that the present generation of Americans is the first to feel the evils of a timberless region.

The Latest Bank Failure.

The failure of the Commercial and Savings Bank of San Jose was an announcement that took many people by surprise yesterday. B. D. Murphy was accounted the richest man in San Jose. He is much more of a politician than a banker. He was an aspirant for a gubernatorial nomination a few months ago. The bank was carrying large interests remote from home. There was, for instance, the Shasta Lumber Company, which finally brought down the bank. Assets could not be turned into money at once. The failure is not a great calamity. The stockholders are rich; the depositors will probably get their money at no distant day.

The failure is only another illustration that rich men do not always make safe bankers, and politicians seldom if ever. Another notable circumstance is that the commercial department of the bank carried the savings department down with it. This double character has never been the best for a savings bank. If there is any trouble it is usually on the commercial side as was the case in the San Jose failure.

Good Land and Not So Good for Colonies

There have been three or four very unfortunate colony enterprises undertaken in California within the past few years. Two of these were hardly less than frauds. The colonists were the victims of false pretenses. There is room for any number of honest colony enterprises in California. Every deception about the capacity of the soil or other natural resources deserves to be promptly exposed.

Recently a German colony enterprise was started on paper. The land selected was near the little narrow guage road running from Colfax to Grass Valley. The German colonists were to come from Milwaukee. Tempting inducements were outlined on paper. Evidently, some land speculators had got hold of a tract of cheap mountain land and intended to work it off for colony purposes. But these careful Germans sent out an agent to examine and report on the capacity. The agent examined it and reported in substance that the land was not worth $10 an acre; that it was rough mountain land that in winter the snow sometimes fell to the depth of ten feet and the mercury went down to 20 degrees. Moreover, the fruit business was not in such a flourishing condition in that vicinity as to warrant the belief that it alone could be relied upon at that altitude for a comfortable living. In short he knocked the bottom out of the ten-acre proposition.

Whereupon the Call undertakes to show that this German agent is mistaken. We should prefer to take the judgment of any discreet man who has made a thorough examination of a tract of land for colony purposes, to any arm-chair theory. The elevation at the point mentioned is 1500. Land at that elevation in the Santa Cruz mountains may seldom be covered with more than four inches of snow which only lasts a few hours. An old-fashioned winter may be experienced at the point named for this German colony. Seeing that there are thousands of acres of rich valley land along the upper Sacramento and in many other small valleys, where the land is well watered and the climate is nearly perfect, it is a pity that colonists should be misled or that attempts should be made in that direction.

Except in a few instances ten acres is not enough to support any family in California. If it were all planted with the most profitable fruit trees there might be years when the product would be ample to carry the family through. Thus, ten-acre vineyards turned out so well for a time that they give a margin of profit to the producer over all expenses. Ten-acre orange groves have made the same record. It is probable that ten-acre lemon orchards will make quite as good a showing. But these are all exceptional cases. The colonist would need now hardly less than fifty acres of valley land, or 150 acres of foothill land to insure him a good basis of future prosperity. The old stories about what has been done in a few instances are not good now by way of precedents. This German agent could not have gone much amiss in his estimates; nor does it appear that any of his statements need much revision.

Miller's Indictment.

We really thought that Joaquin Miller liked Oakland as much as it was possible for him to like anything. It was a rude awakening when he let out the information in a public lecture that he had something like a lofty contempt for the town on which he had been accustomed to look from his serene heights. It is hoped that this feeling is not mutual. It must have taken Miller nearly two hours the other evening to voice his discontent. He brought his audience with him. The rural districts heard him gladly. The metropolitan district was glum, silent and had a far-away feeling. In fact it was not there to any extent. It therefore missed a sound berating. Moreover, this is the season of Lent, and good people are not now given to any violent or extravagant amusements.

The indictment of business is a novel one. About every man in Oakland is doing his level best to earn his daily bread. If they all had time to plant olive trees among the rocks, and could sell poetry to keep the trees agoing, there might be a great deal more poetry and less bread and butter. It is hoped that Miller will abide here. What this public needs is an occasional punch in the ribs, as it were. In short, we need to be redeemed from a state of quiescence into one of intense wakefulness and watching. It may be good for the public to have the dreamy poet come down from the rocks once or twice a year to announce that he is awake and that he wants everybody else to wake up for the occasion.

Bursts of Popular Indignation.

The exhibitions of popular indignation in Spain have very little political significance. The hot heads are always the first to come to the front. In Spain students led in insults to the American flag. These were supposed to be bursts of patriotic indignation. When the atmosphere is cleared it is seen that no more permanent effect had been produced than the bursting of toy bubbles. That there should be some displeasure felt by Spain on account of the attitude of this country toward Cuba is natural enough. The struggle has been a long and desperate one.

Spain, a hundred years ago or more, had nominal possession of nearly one-third of this continent and nearly the whole of South America. Cuba is her last hold. One after another her provinces have revolted. People of the same blood, religion, language and traditions have found her yoke intolerable. In no instance has Spain ever recovered a lost province. There must have been expressions of popular indignation when Spain was forced to give up Mexico. As one province after another revolted, there were just such occasions for remonstrance as Cuba furnishes now. But remonstrance did not greatly retard the march of these Spanish states towards independence.

Charles Carleton Coffin, whose death was recently announced, was known for many years as a journalist in connection with some one of the Boston newspapers. He made his mark as a newspaper correspondent. He wrote many books that were popular with young people. He was a successful man because he made the most of limited early advantages. Most of his work was for the day and has no promise of long survival.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

The preparation of peppermint is especially an American industry. The peppermint is cut when in bloom, like hay, dried, placed in close wooden vats and steamed. The oil cells burst and the oil passes upward with the steam which is condensed and conducted into a receiver, where the oil rises and is piped off. It takes about 350 pounds of dry peppermint to produce one pound of oil. An acre of land yields from six to ten pounds of oil, often more—even as high as fifty pounds. New York and Michigan produce the most.

It sounds absurd, but the statement is made on good authority, that more babies get lost in the shuffle in a Presidential year than in any other. It seems that the small citizen is unable to resist the contagion of the time and toddles off after processions, like his elders, but, unlike them, fails to provide himself with cab fare and a latch key.

"A man killed on a railroad never dies with his boots on," recently remarked a Reading railroad employe. "I have seen, perhaps, over a hundred cases where people have been struck and killed by engines, and in every instance, when the body was picked up, the feet were found to be minus shoes. Even men wearing heavy top boots are not exempt from the invariable rule. Any old engineer will tell you the same thing. It is a mystery which nobody seems able to solve and is as inexplicable as that other strange phenomenon of the drowned man who always floats on top of the water face downward, while the woman floats face upward."

The lost article room of the elevated road system in New York receives about 30,000 miscellaneous deposits a year. Nearly 40 per cent are umbrellas, and ranking second are satchels. About half the articles are called for, and the balance, after being held for six months or a year, according to their value, are sold at auction.

Sarasate once found his memory deserting him at a recital; but he discovered the reason of the mishap in time to prevent a failure. A lady was fanning herself in the front row of the stalls. The violinist stopped playing. "Madam," he said, "how can I play in two-four time when you are beating six-eight?" The lady shut up her fan, and the recital was concluded successfully.

A Kansas City Woman who heard a parlor lecture on Browning was so much interested that she decided she would acquaint herself with the merits of the poet who has been pronounced unintelligible by so many readers. She obtained a volume of his works, but threw up the sponge after she had read three verses of the first poem. Browning is entirely too enigmatical for a busy community like Kansas City.

An old New London (Ct.) whaling captain recalls the fact that during the palmy days of the whaling business there was not a sidewalk, lamp-post or policeman in New London, and good rum was only three or four cents a glass. From 400 to 600 oily, rollicking sailor men were always hanging around ashore, but there were no fights and fewer arrests. Of all the vessels of New London's once famous whaling fleet, the only survivor is the schooner Charles Colgate, built in 1850. The venerable craft is now owned by Sebastian Lawrence, and she is tied up at the Lawrence dock. Her owner would not sell her, for sentimental reasons, and when the dock property passes into railroad hands he proposes to tow her up stream, haul her out, and leave her there as a relic of the past.

Five hundred land agents are said to have gone from the various Southern States to the Northwest since the first of this year with the purpose of presenting the advantages of the sections they represent to the Northwestern farmers and inducing them to locate in the South. The Southern Industrial Association of Alabama says that reports from its agencies all over the South show that there has been a remarkable inflow of immigrants from the Northwest since Christmas, and there is every indication that the immigration will show a very large increase as the spring progresses. Meanwhile newspapers in Nebraska, Dakota and other Northwestern States allege that the trains are daily bringing disappointed farmers back from the South.

John C. Phenix has a Jersey heifer on his farm at Woodford, Me., which shows a decided superiority in instinct. One day she approached some men who were at work, and by lowing and using every bovine device, tried to attract their attention and make them follow her. At last her strange action roused their curiosity, and they went after her to see what was the matter. She led them to the end of a pasture, where they found another cow which had cut a tendon in her leg against a barbed wire fence, and was crippled and bleeding profusely. The men assisted the wounded animal, and the bovine friend displayed her evident satisfaction at the success of her good work.

M. Munkacsy, the Hungarian artist who has lived in Paris for many years, will leave that city in April to take up a permanent residence in Buda-Pesth. It was in Paris that Munkacsy won his first success. He has long harbored the intention of spending his last years in his native land, and of doing what he can for the cause of art in Hungary.

Baron Jordis, the principal breeder of St. Bernard dogs in Austria, publishes a letter from the prior of St. Bernard's Hospice on the subject of the present value of these dogs. "You ask me whether in the present day our hounds render the same service to travelers as are usually ascribed to them," writes the prior. "Certainly they do. They in no way belie their past. In winter they are absolutely indispensable to us, not only because they still find wanderers buried in the snow, but because they are the only guides who can lead us safely along the proper track in the wild mountain snowstorms. The only difference is, that they do not now carry a basket or flask fastened to their necks; these are borne by one of the brothers of the hospice."

Superstitious Woman.

New York Sun.

"It's good luck to pick up a pin only when you see one in getting out of bed," said a bespectacled Vassar graduate gravely the other day, "but one must pick up all the pins one sees in the course of a day, else one will be cheated or lose a bit of money before nightfall. It's good luck when the crackling sparks from a wood fire spring toward you, and when the palm of your hand itches rub it with the rough edge of a piece of money and you will soon receive money to add to that piece. If you dream three times in succession of births you will fall heir to a fortune within the year, and something agreeable will occur in twelve hours if you happen unconsciously to put any garment on in side out. To reverse the garment changes the luck. If you open a book upside down, don't attempt to read anything in it or you will presently overhear something disagreeable to yourself. I know a great many women who believe that blue-eyed people are more lucky than dark-eyed ones, who only tell their secrets to grey-eyed friends, and who believe that a woman with a black mole on her body is bound to come to a tragic end."

The Pacific Restaurant.

The License Committee will not meet Wednesday night to hear the defendant's evidence in the matter of the charges against the Pacific Restaurant. Attorney Geo. W. LOST IN A ZINC MINE.

A Mistake in a Turn and All Clues Were Gone.

Story of a Perilous Adventure in the Under-Ground Tunno's.

"The sensations of being lost in a cave are almost indescribable," said Hayes Heron at the Great Northern Hotel, Chicago, to an Inter Ocean reporter. "I had an experience of that kind while I was living in Southwestern Missouri a few years ago that I shall never forget. The cave was really a lead and zinc mine, and I had the awful experience of being shut up in a drift about 200 feet below the surface for nearly six hours, and almost frightening my folks, to say nothing of myself, to death.

"It happened in the old Pacific zinc mine, Missouri Pacific Depot, at Carthage, Mo., which is located within a stone's throw of the shaft and pumphouse, alongside the tracks. At that time the mines around Carthage were producing well, and were being worked by both a day and night shift of men. The ore was raised by buckets and put through a sort of washing process after the stuff had passed through a crusher. This leaves the ore fine like sand.

"Well, at the time I was in the habit of going over to the mine, and sometimes would go down underground to see how things were progressing. My father was one of the owners at the time. I went down one morning about noon, and the men were preparing a blast, which was to be set off just before the lunch hour, so as to give the smoke time to clear away before they resumed work after dinner. I was lowered in a bucket and reached the 200-foot level. Here the drifts run off and are divided in such a way as to honeycomb the ground and reach the zinc veins. There is little or no lead at that depth. The lead is closer to the surface.

"The Pacific mine has two shafts, and they are connected so as to afford ventilation for the miners. I started down the drift, which was high enough to permit me to walk with ease, and passed the point where the drift divides into two sections. I was examining the walls for shines, as the little patches of zinc ore are called, when I was startled by a warning cry from the miners. I started to run to the other drift, and had no sooner reached it than a heavy blast went off, shaking the ground and filling the whole mine with smoke and the odor of powder. I was naturally stunned by the explosion and groped around trying to find the shaft, and finally reached a place where a ray of light could be seen in the distance. It was the hole that connected the main shaft with the level and airshaft beyond.

"The hole was just large enough to permit a man to crawl through, and this was what I attempted to do. I made a good beginning, but my head protruded through the drift beyond when I realized that I was fast. In roaming about the main level I had gathered a number of specimens of ore and put them in my coat pockets, and this was what had caused the trouble. I was fast, but in a reasonably comfortable position, as, after exhausting my strength in calling for help, I fell asleep from overexertion. I was awakened by a roaring sound, and realized it was a train passing over the drift, nearly 200 feet above. A new danger came into my mind. What if they should turn loose another blast? Located in that ventilation hole as I was, the concussion of an explosion would be awful and probably fatal. It made me shudder to think of it. I made a desperate effort to release myself, but could not. I shouted for help with all my might, as I have a pair of good lungs. I succeeded in making myself heard. My absence had been noted and a search had been instituted. It was not long before I was on top of mother earth again.

After the Pugilists.

NEWS OF THE NORTH END.

Gossip of the Hour at Lorin, Temescal and Berkeley.

MUCH PROGRESS IS EVIDENT.

Street Improvements and a Variety of Social Events.

GOSSIP FROM THE 'VARSITY.

High School Seniors Prepare for Some Festive Meetings.

BERKELEY, March 10.—The residents and property holders along Delaware street are very anxious to have the thoroughfare improved and are making strenous efforts to have the Town Trustees take some action in the matter. During the heavy rains of last week, the street was almost impassable and seriously interfered with business. A petition is being circulated asking that the street be macadamized and it will be presented to the Trustees at the next regular meeting. The petitioners desire that the street improvements be made at once.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS.

The seniors of the High school have been holding meetings to plan the final events in their High school life. The play "L'Allegro," will be given on class day, the principal character being taken by Messrs. Hughes, Lavettine, Waite, Parker and Misses Howell and West. For class prophecy and history, the following committee has been selected: Messrs. Bradley and Deehm, Misses Tucker, Doherty and Dewing. The two other committees selected are as follows: for class picnic, Miss Stedman, Messrs. L. J. Warren and Parks; for class dance, Misses Henderson and Hixon, Messrs. Simonds, Morris and White.

THE HIGGINS LICENSE.

The action of the Trustees in refusing to grant J. J. Higgins a license is causing considerable comment. It is claimed that the grounds upon which the license was refused were not founded on facts but the Trustees had other reasons for not granting the license which they do not care to explain. Higgins has paid his back license fees and the saloon men do not object to the granting of the license as was formerly claimed. A petition among the West Berkeley saloon men has been circulated and signed by nearly every saloon-keeper. This petition will be brought before the Board and the demand for a license will be made again.

WOMEN'S WORK.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Unitarian Church, have fully decided to hold a flower show during the latter part of April for the purpose of increasing the funds for the support of the Unitarian Church. The ladies have called upon every inhabitant of Berkeley who is interested in flowers, to aid them to make the matter a success, artistically and financially.

THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY

A Go-Ahead Spirit is Shown in the Thriving Districts.

Improvements, Social Gossip and a Medley of Affairs in General.

The following is a summary of the recent events throughout the county:

Livermore.

The League of Progress has adopted resolutions sympathising with the residents in the country outside the town who are endeavoring to have the Arroyo del Valle road built and has authorized the chairman to appoint a committee of three to ascertain the status of the condemnation suits in the Superior Court, concerning the road and to assist the District Attorney in procuring evidence necessary to establish the actual damages to the land owners, and when the case has gone to judgment, to urge upon the Supervisors the completion of the road.

The creamery is rapidly nearing completion and on Saturday next a trial run on a limited quantity of milk will be made. Farmers are getting their cows into condition and giving them the attention in feeding and care that will insure a surprising increase in butter fat.

The Livermore people have inaugurated a campaign of tree-planting. They will begin on Lizzie avenue. On that thoroughfare 800 Australian gum trees will be planted along each side of the thoroughfare. They will be placed twenty feet apart. The ground is now being plowed and well prepared for the young trees which will be from two to three feet high.

Irvington.

The Washington Press will move into more commodious quarters in a few days. One of the large brick stores in the I. O. O. F. building has been engaged for the office. The new home of the Press is 22x75 feet and is most centrally located.

Centreville

The people of Centreville have organized the Centreville Athletic Club. Frank Smith was elected chairman and Fred Dusterberry secretary. A subscription list with $225 subscribed by the business men has been tendered the club.

Alvarado.

Henningsen Brothers will again run the Alvarado Hotel. The house will be newly furnished and other extensive improvements will be made.

Pleasanton.

The Editor of the Pleasanton Times wants the people of that place to establish a fire company which will meet and drill regularly. He says in an editorial that the town owns fire-fighting apparatus, and did once organize a fire company but that after the company held a few meetings lost interest in the concern and now nobody knows who are the members of the company.

The newly elected directors of the Pleasanton Petroleum and Natural Gas Company are Joshua Chadbourne, J. N. Arendt, Wm. Napier, Joseph Goldman and E. L. Benedict.

A non-partisan convention for the purpose of nominating a municipal ticket will be held in Rose Hall at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow evening.

Philip Kolb, one of the sureties on the official bond of M. C. Donally, the town marshall, has asked for permission to withdraw from the same.

The case of Johnny Bernal, charged with shooting Dick Foley, which was set last week for Wednesday of last week in the Superior Court, will come up tomorrow.

The dredger is now at work on the Chabot ranch dredging out the Alamo ditch. This will save the land from overflowing in the future.

The almond trees along the county road on the Ruby Hill Vineyard property have all been grafted into prunes.

Haywards.

The Judiciary Committee of the Trustees is considering an ordinance fixing the license of retail dealers of general merchandise at $6 per quarter and of fish peddlers at $3.

Next Friday evening Rev. G. W. Lyons will deliver a lecture on the "New Woman" at the M. E. Church.

The town election will take place on Monday, April 13th.

San Leandro.

The committee of the Board of Trade which has been considering the advisability of establishing a fruit evaporating company, has been informed that if such a company should be organized a certain firm in San Francisco would be willing to act as its agents. The committee has been allowed further time in which to make a full report.

The Board of Trade has appointed Mr. Rantzau a committee of one to look into the matter of the desire for a location of a manufactory entertained by the Union Shoe Company.

Speaking about the damage to orchards in this neighborhood, a well-known resident said: "The apricot and almond trees are now just where they are subject to injury and may have been damaged to some extent, but it has not shown as yet. A week later we can tell better than at present. The other varieties of fruit and the nuts have not yet reached the stage where there is any danger of injury by such slight frosts. It is an open question as to whether any injury has been done to the fruit crop and we are hoping for the best.

San Lorenzo

The friends of Dr. A. Huffaker regret to learn that he is about to take his departure to Carson City, Nevada.

The late cold spell has done some injury to apricots and almonds.

Capt. Morse of Alameda will deliver a lecture here on the 20th inst.

The "Spy of Gettysburg" will be presented by the Dramatic Club on the evening of the 27th inst.

Niles.

A correspondent of the Washington Press says: "It is too soon, at this writing, to know whether any damage has been done to fruit or not, by the recent extreme cold. Almonds may be hurt, but they fall anyway, and apricots, peaches and cherries are likely to be checked back somewhat, which would be a good thing.

The newly formed Athletic Club is to meet next Thursday evening to draw up by-laws, constitution, etc. A large number who are interested in athletics went to Irvington Saturday evening to attend the newly formed club. It is thought that each town will have its own town club, and that all will work together for special events as one organization, a sort of township affair.

AN OVATION TO WARDE.

His Impersonation of "King Lear" a Great Success.

"Kidnapped" Hugely Enjoyed by the Patrons of the Oakland.

Frederick Warde opened his engagement of a week before a large audience at the Macdonough theater last night in the role of "King Lear."

"Lear" has never been a popular character, perhaps for the reason that few actors have felt they were able to interpret it in a manner to please the public. Booth, with all his genius, failed to idealize the character, mainly because he lacked the physical vigor which is one of the requirements of the role. When, therefore, Mr. Warde essayed the part the undertaking was marveled at by many of his admirers, and yet, it may well be doubted if there is any role in Mr. Warde's repertoire in which he appears to greater advantage. This was the opinion of those who saw the performance last night.

Mr. Warde's conception of the great character is that of a scholar and his delineation is that of an actor of superior ability. There was tenderness in the voice in the more gentle scenes and intense feeling and hatred in the passionate ones. The famous curse was delivered without a suggestion of rant and the simulation of madness and a gradual breaking of the heart of the old man was true to nature. There was scarcely a climax in the piece in which appreciation was not made manifest on the part of the audience, and at the end of every act Mr. Warde was time and again called before the curtain. Indeed, the manner in which the work of the star was received amounted to an ovation, because Mr. Warde had succeeded in bringing to the attention of the people one of the most interesting, if not the most exacting and complex characters of the great poet.

Mr. Warde was supported by an excellent company with the work of every member of which satisfaction must be expressed. The setting of the piece was superb, more especially in the scene on the heath, during which the audience was treated to the presentation of a storm, the realism being never equalled in any production on the local stage.

Mr. Warde was the recipient of a floral clock between the last two acts on the dial of which the hands indicated 9 o'clock. This was a souvenir from Oakland lodge of Elks and symbolized the custom of that order of drinking the toast "Our Absent Brothers," which is done in every lodge of the organization at that hour at night. Mr. Warde was quick to catch the significance of the souvenir and, in accepting it, made a little speech expressive of his appreciation of gratitude both to the lodge and the audience.

"Julius Cæsar" will be repeated next Friday evening.

Tonight D'Ennery's celebrated romance "The Mountebank," will be presented. Warde's production of this popular play is splendidly staged and its many picturesque scenes are given lifelike portrayal, both from an artistic and theatrical standpoint.

A CONCERT COMING.

The engagement of the celebrated artists, Ondricek and Materna for one concert at the Macdonough next Monday evening, will almost equal in point of interest the Paderewski concert. Ondricek has fairly captured the East and has aroused more enthusiasm than any violinist who has visited America. Ondricek is court violinist to the Emperor of Austria and has had five orders conferred upon him by European rulers, Queen Victoria, Queen of Roumania, Emperor of Russia, King of Italy and King of Denmark.

Materna, the renowned dramatic soprano, is too well known to require mention. Her name alone is sufficient to crowd the theater. The sale of seats begins next Friday.

"BE IN TIME! BE IN TIME!"

THE OAKLAND THEATER.

Judging by the enthusiastic audience which filled the Oakland theater last evening to witness the initial production of D. K. Higgins' comedy drama "Kidnapped," it is evident that Oaklanders realize the efforts made by the management of the popular house to please all patrons. The patrons of the gallery receive just as much attention and courtesy as do the occupants of the best box and in this way Manager Collins has struck the keynote of success. Then, too, it is always a sure thing that a good show will be witnessed. This is particularly evident in the present engagement of the Bacon Company.

Frank Bacon as "Luis Rhinegold," interpreted the difficult character in a masterly manner which showed careful study, while Virginia Jackson in the dual role of "Maggie McMooney" and "Mother Pogual," was very clever. All the other characters were well sustained and the carefully executed bits of business spoke well for the training of Stage Manager Webster.

Next week "Held in Slavery" will be produced.

THE BALDWIN.

The popularity of Hoyt's production was witnessed at the Baldwin last night when his latest contribution to dramatic literature, "A Milk White Flag," was given its initial production on California boards.

The play, which is on the line of a satire, is light, bright and funny. Absurd complications and the ultimate disentanglements are abundant, while the burlesque on the National Guard creates uproarous applause.

"The White Flag" is certainly one of Hoyt's best productions and from the reception it received last night a flattering run is certain.

THE COLUMBIA.

John L. Sullivan, pugilist-actor, was the star attraction at the Columbia last evening. "The Wicklow Postman" gives him ample opportunity to display his histrionic ability, as well as show his auditors a few points in sparring.

THE ALCAZAR.

A pretty little operetta entitled "The Charity Girls" is the first part of the bill at the Alcazar, while "The Mikado" with its popular old-time characters, follows. The Carleton Opera Company closes Sunday evening and then a run of vaudeville performances will commence.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

"The Silver King" at the Grand has established a reputation on its merits and the production given last night was decidedly a pleasing one. The piece is beautifully staged and all the characters well sustained.

THE TIVOLI.

"The Hoolah" drew a packed house at the Tivoli last evening. It has been on the boards before, but much new material in the line of songs, dances, gags and funny business has been introduced. The new production is as elaborately staged as before.

THE ORPHEUM.

The Athos family and Charles E. Ward are rocking the hits this week at the Orpheum. Some of the former favorites are still retained and in all the show is decidedly interesting.

Manager Walter always gives his patrons a good show. He employs the best talent regardless of price and the artists who appear at his house are recruited from the best Eastern and European novelties.

WHY WARDE IS POPULAR.

He Is Ever Ready to Answer the Call of Charity.

Courteous Response to the Request of the Womans' Exchange.

Frederick Warde, the renowned tragedian, displays a very commendable spirit in devoting so much time and labor to the cause of charity. He gave a recitation for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange in San Francisco recently, and next Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock he will give a similar entertainment at the First Congregational Church for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange in this city.

In tendering his services to the committee that called upon him for that purpose, he said that in giving these recitations he was accomplishing a double purpose—he assisted a deserving charity and at the same time provided an opportunity for the school children and others who could not afford to attend regular performances to hear him in some of his favorite roles.

"I am very fond of the children," he said, "and have a warm place in my heart for the deserving poor, and therefore am always ready to assist both. My only conditions are that you fix the price of admission within easy range of all."

This is a trait of character of a very high order, and one well calculated to commend his talents and himself to the public, which already holds him in very high esteem, both as a gentleman and actor.

There is no oasis in the desert of this life so refreshing as the wand of genius, wielded by the hand of charity, which is fully exemplified in the person of Mr. Warde.

The ladies of the Woman's Exchange have fixed the price of admission at 10 cents for school children and 25 cents for adults. Tickets may be obtained at Sherman & Clay's or at the Woman's Exchange.

HAS A BROADER SCOPE.

S. E. Moffett on the Government Handling of Public Works.

It Would Bring About Good Results if Politics Could Be Avoided.

In a paper read before the Oakland Institute of Applied Christianity last evening, S. E. Moffett, editor of the Examiner, combatted the argument that public agencies are necessarily extravagant by a forcible array of facts and figures. He said that while it is a fact that many undertakings of the government are unduly expensive it does not follow that all are or that this is necessarily so. The motive for economical management is the same one of self interest either in public or private agency.

"The personal supervision of the proprietor is no longer common in great corporations but is delegated to a hired man. This is virtually the same whether it be a private trust or monopoly or a government agency. The government can command as good skill as any private employer. It can appeal to more motives for efficient service. It can confer civic honor and public preferment. It appeals to public spirit and esprit de corps, while private employers only offer money and must pay more for the same service.

The speaker said that the postoffice system gives better service at less cost than could be supplied under private management. The experience of all civilized countries has been that the government should undertake this service. In many countries the telegraph is now operated successfully as an adjunct of the postal service. Governments successfully operate railways in the German States, Austria-Hungary and the Australian colonies and the management is efficient and satisfactory.

There is no watered stock in government agencies upon which the public must pay dividends. Then the government can command money at lower rates than private corporations. The field of government activity is being greatly enlarged in European countries and particularly in the matter of municipal ownership of lighting and water supplies and street railways.

The speaker referred to the facts set forth in Albert Shaw's book, "Municipal Government in Europe," to confirm the economy of public agencies in these matters and said that the service was eminently satisfactory. While much is yet to be accomplished in the reform of our municipal affairs," he said, "Yet when American citizens learn to select their officials for efficiency and honesty rather than for their political pull, we may do all that European countries and municipalities are doing as public agencies for the satisfaction of all citizens and may do more."

The paper was followed by a general discussion and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Moffett.

It was announced that at the meeting next Monday evening Adna A. Denison would present a paper on "Labor and Capital," illustrated by charts.

EIGHT MILES AN HOUR

A Limit Is Set on the Speed of the Street Cars.

THE COUNCIL IN SESSION.

Money to Be Spent Dredging at the City Wharves.

STREET OPENINGS HANDLED.

The Exempt Firemen's Case to Be Taken on Appeal.

The Council met last evening for the purpose of attending to matters demanding immediate action. The ordinance regulating the speed of street cars and steam engines and making it a misdemeanor to run over eight miles an hour within the district bounded by Washington, Franklin street, Sixteenth street and the water front, was finally passed without a dissenting vote.

The ordinance allowing the Piedmont Sanitary District to connect its sewer with the East Side sewer was finally passed.

Before voting Dow explained that while under the contract entered into between the Sanitary District and the city the former was to pay to the latter $5000, the city need not consider it a part of the general fund to be drawn on at will. It was to be used, he said, to improve the East Lake sewer, and its outlet and an ordinance ordering the work would soon be introduced.

The ordinance authorizing the Board of Public Works to purchase 2000 feet of hose for the fire department was finally passed.

The ordinance to open Thirteenth street from Kirkham to Center street to a uniform width of sixty feet was passed to print, the rules being suspended.

The rules were suspended and the ordinance to open Twenty-fourth avenue from Sixteenth street to the northern boundary line of the city was passed to print.

The ordinance directing the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids for bulking around the city wharves from the Oakland line to the government channel, and appropriating $8,000 for the work exciting a little discussion.

Mr. Bassett said that he understood the water in the channel is not as deep as it is around the city wharves at the present time and for that reason he opposed spending the money. Furthermore, he said, the city had not $18,000 to spare and he did not think that any contractors would undertake the work when they learned of the chance of profit for suit and similar purposes. He wound up his remarks by repeating the sentiment of the shallowness at the foot of Peralta street. He said he had learned the fact from Edson Adams.

Mott said he understood that Adams is building some wharves on his Alameda street property and would naturally oppose any improvements to an opposition wharf.

Bassett replied with some warmth that he had every reason to believe that Mr. Adams told the truth.

The roll was called on the motion to suspend the rules and later on passing to print. The vote stood:

Ayes, Brosnahan, Buckland, Carroll, Dow, Heilmann, Marshall, Mott, Towle and President Metzger.

Noes, Bassett.

Absent, Watkinson.

When the resolution appropriating $60 to be used by the city attorney in appealing the Exempt Firemen's mandamus suit, Brosnahan wanted to know if this meant employing outside legal aid for the City Attorney.

Pelton responded that the City Attorney never asked for legal assistance.

Bassett opposed the resolution as he thought it meant only piling up expense to the city and defeat in the long run.

The resolution was however finally adopted, Bassett alone voting no.

GRIP DEALS HARD BLOWS.

Some of Its Consequences Described by a Famous English Authority on Nervous Diseases.

Dr. W. R. Gowers, the leading British authority on nervous diseases tells how acute maladies like influenza leave the system weak and a prey to various evils.

Mental dullness, indisposition to effort of any sort, and stiffness in the arms, legs and back, are among the ugly things that the hateful grip leaves behind it. Health and spirits are dragged to a very low level and kept there. Maybe the sufferer puts on a bold face and insists that he doesn't need any more medicine. He will pick up and be all right in little while, he says.

So he will provided he acts like a man of sense and hastens the return of his old energy with that sound, reliable stimulant, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Experiments unnumbered have been made to find something to tone and brace bodies exhausted by influenza and kindred diseases. Whatever the future will bring forth, the fact is solidly established that a good medicinal whiskey is the thing needed to quicken the languid circulation, thus preventing the excess of blood in some parts of the body and an undersupply of it in others.

Duffy's Pure Malt is not made for barroom purposes, but solely as a medicine, to be used in debilitated states of the body. Rigid analysis has shown it to be free from trace of harmful substance.

Its effects are immediate and so wholly beneficial that even the dreaded grip has lost most of its terrors where this peerless whiskey is used.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

LOST IN A ZINC MINE.

A Mistake in a Turn and All Clues Were Gone.

Story of a Perilous Adventure in the Under-Ground Tunnels.

"The sensation of being lost in a cave are almost indescribable," said Hayes Heron at the Grand Northern Hotel Chicago to an Inter Ocean reporter. "I had an experience of that kind while I was living in Southwestern Missouri a few years ago that I shall never forget. The cave was really a lead and zinc mine, and I had the awful experience of being shut up in a drift about 200 feet below the surface for nearly six hours, and almost frightening my folks, to say nothing of myself, to death.

"It happened in the old Pacific zinc mine, Missouri Pacific Depot, at Carthage, Mo., which is located within a stone's throw of the shaft and pumping house, alongside the tracks. At that time the mines around Carthage were producing well, and were being worked by both a day and night shift of men. The ore was raised by buckets and put through a sort of washing process after the stuff had passed through a crusher. This leaves the ore fine like sand.

"Well, at the time I was in the habit of going over to the mine and sometimes would go down underground to see how things were progressing. My father was one of the owners at the time. I went down one morning about noon, and the men were preparing a blast, which was to be set off just before the lunch hour, so as to give the smoke time to clear away before they resumed work after dinner. I was lowered in a bucket and reached the 260-foot level. Here the drifts run off and are divided in such a way as to honeycomb the ground and reach the zinc veins. There is little or no lead at that depth. The lead is closer to the surface.

"The Pacific mine has two shafts, and they are connected so as to afford ventilation for the miners. I started down the drift, which was high enough to permit me to walk with ease, and passed the point where the drift divides into two sections. I was examining the walls for shines as the little patches of zinc ore are called, when I was startled by a warning cry from the miners. I started to run to the other drift, and had no sooner reached it than a heavy blast went off, shaking the ground and filling the whole mine with smoke and the odor of powder. I was naturally scarred by the explosion and groped around trying to find the shaft and finally reached a place where a ray of light could be seen in the distance. It was the hole that connected the main shaft with the level and airshaft beyond.

"The hole was just large enough to permit a man to crawl through, and this was what I attempted to do. I made a good beginning, but my head protruded through the drift beyond when I realized that I was lost. In roaming about the main level I had gathered a number of specimens of ore and put them in my coat pockets, and this was what had caused the trouble. I was fast but in a reasonably comfortable position as, after exhausting my strength in calling for help I fell asleep from overexertion. I was awakened by a roaring sound, and realized it was a train passing over the drift, nearly 200 feet above. A new danger came into my mind. What if they should turn loose another blast? Located in that ventilation hole as I was, the concussion of an explosion would be awful and probably fatal. It made me shudder to think of it. I made a desperate effort to release myself, but could not. I shouted for help with all my might, as I have a pair of good lungs. I succeeded in making myself heard. My absence had been noted and a search had been instituted. It was not long before I was on top of mother earth again."

After the Pugilists.

The matter of the recent prize fight near Warm Springs in this county between two men from San Jose was brought to the attention of Sheriff White by a Tribune reporter this morning and the sheriff was asked whether he intends to take any steps to apprehend the bruisers. Sheriff White said that he had not heard of the fight before it took place, but that he would make an attempt to land the pugilists.

Street Improvements and a Variety of Social Events.

GOSSIP FROM THE 'VARSITY.

High School Seniors Prepare for Some Festive Meetings.

BERKELEY, March 10.—The residents and property holders along Delaware street are very anxious to have the thoroughfare improved and are making strenuous efforts to have the Town Trustees take some action in the matter. During the heavy rains of last week, the street was almost impassable and seriously interfered with business. A petition is being circulated asking that the street be macadamized and it will be presented to the Trustees at the next regular meeting. The petitioners desire that the street improvements be made at once.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS.

The seniors of the High school have been holding meetings to plan the final events in their High school life. The play "L'Allegro," will be given on class day, the principal character being taken by Misses Hughes, Hamilton, White, Parker and Misses Howell and West. The class prophecy and history of the following committee has been selected: Misses Bradley and Bolan, Misses Tucker, Doherty and Dewing. The two other committees selected are as follows: For class poem, Miss Smidmore, Misses L. J. Warren and Parks. For class day, Misses Henderson and Hutton, Messrs. Simonds, Morris and White.

THE HIGGINS LICENSE.

The action of the Trustees in refusing to grant J. J. Higgins a license is causing considerable comment. It is claimed that the grounds upon which the license was refused were not found on facts but the Trustees had other reasons for not granting the license which they do not care to explain. Higgins has paid up his back license fees and the saloon men do not object to the granting of the license as was formerly claimed. A petition among the West Berkeley saloon men has been circulated and signed by nearly every saloon-keeper. This petition will be brought before the Board and the demand for a license will be made again.

THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY

A Go-Ahead Spirit is Shown in the Thriving Districts.

Improvements, Social Gossip and a Medley of Affairs in General.

The following is a summary of the recent events throughout the county:

Livermore.

The League of Progress has adopted resolutions sympathising with the residents in the country outside the town who are endeavoring to have the Arroyo del Valle road built and has authorized the chairman to appoint a committee of three to ascertain the status of the condemnation suits in the Superior Court, concerning the road and to assist the District Attorney in procuring evidence necessary to establish the actual damages to the land owners, and when the case has gone to judgment, to urge upon the Supervisors the completion of the road.

The creamery is rapidly nearing completion and on Saturday next a trial run on a limited quantity of milk will be made. Farmers are getting their cows into condition and giving them the attention in feeding and care that will insure a surprising increase in butter fat.

The Livermore people have inaugurated a campaign of tree-planting. They will begin on Lizzie avenue. On that thoroughfare 800 Australian gum trees will be planted along each side of the thoroughfare. They will be placed twenty feet apart. The ground is now being plowed and well prepared for the young trees which will be from two to three feet high.

Irvington.

The Washington Press will move into more commodious quarters in a few days. One of the large brick stores in the I. O. O. F. building has been engaged for the office. The new home of the Press is 22x75 feet and is most centrally located.

Centreville

The people of Centreville have organized the Centreville Athletic Club. Frank Smith was elected chairman and Fred Dutcher secretary. A subscription list with $225 subscribed by the business men has been tendered the club.

Alvarado.

Hennigsen Brothers will again run the Alvarado Hotel. The house will be newly furnished and other extensive improvements will be made.

Pleasanton.

The Editor of the Pleasanton Times wants the people at that place to establish a fire company which will meet and drill regularly. He says in an editorial that the town owns fire-fighting apparatus, and did once organize a fire company but that after the company held a few meetings lost interest in the concern and now nobody knows who are the members of the company.

The newly elected directors of the Pleasanton Petroleum and Natural Gas Company are Joshua Chadbourne, J. N. Arendt, Wm. Napier, Joseph Goldman and E. L. Benedict.

A non-partisan convention for the purpose of nominating a municipal ticket will be held in Rose Hall at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow evening.

Philip Kohl, one of the sureties on the official bond of M. C. Donahy, the town marshall, has asked for permission to withdraw from the same.

The case of Johnny Bernal, charged with shooting Dick Foley, which was set last week for Wednesday of last week in the Superior Court, will come up tomorrow.

The dredger is now at work on the Chabot canal dredging out the Alameda inlet. This will save the land from overflowing in the future.

The almond trees along the county road in the Ruby Hill Vineyard property have all been grafted into prunes.

Haywards.

The Judiciary Committee of the Trustees is considering an ordinance fixing the license of retail dealers of general merchandise at $6 per quarter and of fish peddlers at $5.

Next Friday evening Rev. C. W. Lyons will deliver a lecture on the "New Woman" at the M. E. Church.

The town election will take place on Monday, April 13th.

San Leandro.

The committee of the Board of Trade which has been considering the advisability of establishing a fruit evaporating company has been informed that if such a company should be organized a certain firm in San Francisco would be willing to act as its agents. The committee has been allowed further time in which to make a full report.

The Board of Trade has appointed Mr. Bartaau a committee of one to look into the matter of the desire for a location of a manufactory entertained by the Union Shoe Company.

Speaking about the damage to orchards in this neighborhood a well-known resident said: "The apricot and almond trees are now just where they are subject to injury and may have been damaged to some extent, but it has not shown as yet. A week later we can tell better than at present. The other varieties of fruit and the nuts have not yet reached the stage where there is any danger of injury by such slight frosts. It is an open question as to whether any injury has been done to the fruit crop and we are hoping for the best.

San Lorenzo

The friends of Dr. A. Huffaker regret to learn that he is about to take his departure to Carson City, Nevada.

The late cold spell has done some injury to apricots and almonds.

Capt. Morse of Alameda will deliver a lecture here on the 20th inst.

The "Spy of Gettysburg" will be presented by the Dramatic Club on the evening of the 27th inst.

Niles.

A correspondent of the Washington Press says: "It is too soon, at this writing, to know whether any damage has been done to fruit or not, by the recent extreme cold. Almonds may be hurt, but they fall anyway, and apricots, peaches and cherries are likely to be checked back somewhat, which would be a good thing.

The newly formed Athletic Club is to meet next Thursday evening to draw up by-laws, constitution, etc. A large number who are interested in athletics went to Irvington Saturday evening to attend the newly formed club. It is thought that each town will have its own town club, and that all will work together for special events as one organization, a sort of township affair.
